SENATE PAYS LAST TRIBUTE

Simple Funeral Rites for Bacon Are Held in the Senate Chamber.

VICE PRESIDENT MARSHALL SPEAKS

Georgia Statesman's Body is Now En Route to the Southland.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Funeral services for Senator Baron, of Georgia, were held today in the senate chamber. There were no speeches of eulogy, no music and but few flowers. The floral tribute of the senate itself rested on the coffin.

One exception to the senate rule against flowers in the chamber was made and a wreath from the president and Mrs. Wilson was placed on the coffin beside the senate's tribute. It was of orchids, mignonette and daisies.

Inspiring in Simplicity.

The ceremonies were inspiring in their simplicity, and the place in which they were held with the dignity of those assembled to do honor to the dead senator impressive. Two hours before the body was taken with tender reverence into the senate chamber it lay in the adjoining marble room. The public was excluded. Later the body was taken into the chamber and placed upon the draped bier, directly in front of the vice president's desk.

Seats upon the floor were reserved for the president of the United States, members of his cabinet, the associate justices of the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, members of the house of representatives, the admiral of the navy, the chief of staff of the army and the regents of the Smithsonian institution. Members of the dead senator's family and the officiating clergymen remained in the vice president's room until time for the services when they were conducted to the seats reserved for them on the floor.

Wilson Unable to Attend.

It was announced at the white house almost at the last moment that President Wilson would not attend the funeral services, because Dr. Grayson did not think it wise for the president to risk exposure at a time when he was recovering from a troublesome cold. Mrs. Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, however, went to occupy seats in the reserved gallery.

Beside the casket in the marble room was a guard of honor composed of one veteran of the union army and one veteran of the confederate army. Senator Bacon was a confederate officer. The southern veteran was J. B. Marshall, of Birmingham, Ala., and the northern veteran was Major James A. Abbott, of Providence, R. I., both members of the capitol police force.

Admission to the galleries was by card, extended only to the members of the house and the more intimate friends of the dead statesman. One gallery was reserved for the use of those invited by the president and the vice president. Hundreds of those who came to pay homage to the dead statesman's memory were turned away.

HEAPED-UP SNOW SAVES LIVES OF SIX CHILDREN.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 17. Snow which Stephen Grub, of Jersey City, heaped up when cleaning his sidewalk after the snow storm, saved the lives of his six children today. With fire raging in the house he dropped them, one at a time, from the roof into the snow. None was hurt, although the youngest child is only a year old. Before saving the children Grub carried his wife down stairs to safety. The house was destroyed.

EAST TO ESCAPE FROM CHILL SOON

Weather Sharps Say Backbone of "Cold Snap" is Weakening.

CHILL BRINGS DEATH

Washington, Feb. 17. The backbone of the cold snap which has held the east in a grip of discomfort and suffering for the last three days, is about to be broken. The agency of relief comes from the British Northwest and, in the parlance of weather sharps, is known as a "depression" pushing and rolling its bulk southeastward. It already has caused rising temperatures in the Missouri, Upper Mississippi and Lower Ohio valleys and by tomorrow its warming influence will be chasing Jack Frost out to sea off the Atlantic coast.

Dark clouds and threatening snow flurries over the middle Atlantic and New England states today were its heralds which promised rising of thermometers, relief of congestion of railway traffic and a return to normal winter conditions.

FOUND DEAD IN SNOWDRIFT.

Garden City, L. I., Feb. 17.—Edward N. Townsend, editor of the Nassau County Republican, was found dead in a snow drift today in front of his home here. He had apparently become exhausted while struggling through the snow drifts last night and had fallen just as he reached his gate. His wife remained up all night anxiously awaiting his return, but it was not until today that he was found almost buried by snow frozen to death. Mr. Townsend was 58 years old and weighed nearly 300 pounds. He was socially prominent. Members of his family think that his heart gave out after his battle with the snow.

TWO LUMBERMEN PERISH.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 17.—Two lumbermen, Jerry Sheehan and Joseph Kelly, were found frozen to death in a snow drift on South Mountain yesterday. They were returning from Nixen and were within sight of the camp when they were overcome.

Kelley's body was completely covered by the snow drift. Sheehan was found with his head under a tree stump, his last effort to gain shelter.

PASSENGERS IN A FRENZY OF PANIC

Largest Ohio River Packet Barely Escapes Going Over Falls.

VESSEL RAMS A PIER

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 17.—One hundred and ten passengers, including many women, were thrown into a panic early today when the Queen City, largest packet on the Ohio river, rammed a pier at the head of the Ohio Falls after a strong current had almost carried her over. The vessel was en route from Pittsburg to New Orleans on an annual Mardi Gras excursion. She carried a crew of seventy-five.

When life-savers from the local station reached the steamer in response to her distress signal they found the rails lined with half-dressed, frightened passengers, several of whom threatened to leap into the icy waters. All the passengers were taken off and carried to the life-saving station. The Queen City was carried by the current while trying to land at the wharf here. Efforts of her crew to swing her away from the pier were ineffectual and a towboat will attempt to pull her off today.

Senate to Retain Literacy Test in Immigration Measure.

UNDISMAYED BY VETO PROSPECT

Administration Naval Construction Program to Be Determined.

Washington, Feb. 17. President Wilson's veto is waiting for the Burnett immigration bill if it passes congress providing for the much-discussed literacy test, according to the best information today in circles close to the white house.

Definite news of the president's opposition to the test came as a surprise to many who were led to believe he favored it, by the senate immigration committee's announcement that it would go ahead with the bill, keeping the literacy test in its place.

Thousands of naturalized citizens all over the country have been campaigning against the bill, which caused former President Taft to veto the same bill the year before he went out of office. President Wilson will give public hearing at the white house before he takes action.

Senators of the committee, democrats and republicans alike, declared again today that the literacy test would be retained notwithstanding the probability of veto. They expect it to pass by a large majority. Whether any attempt would be made to re-pass the bill over a veto they did not care to predict.

It was declared that the committee would pursue its work along lines originally contemplated.

To Determine Naval Program.

The naval appropriation bill, with its $145,000,000 appropriation was before the house naval committee today for final determination of what is to be the administration construction program. Two battleships and accompanying small craft have been recommended by Secre-

ONE LONELY LITTLE RAT PUTS CITY IN DARKNESS.

Winsted, Conn., Feb. 27.—To the manifold troubles to which this town was subjected by the storm was added the annoyance caused by a rat which before daylight today crawled across the switchboard at the electric plant of the Winsted Gas company and becoming caught in the terminal tumblers, caused a short circuit, cutting off the current for several hours. A week ago a cat climbed a pole, got mixed up with wires and caused a similar short circuit, leaving the town in darkness.

FORMER LOVER TAKEN

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Tracey Hollander, a prepossessing twenty-one year old girl, was murdered here early today and her body dragged into a cemetery and thrown upon a grave. She was beaten to death with a heavy timber.

The police have arrested Anthony Peddoes, a discarded sweetheart of the girl. He denies all connection with the crime. A man's watch was found at the side of the girl.

Miss Hollander was financial secretary of the Knights and Ladies of Honor. She was missed when she failed to return home from a meeting of the lodge last night.

Fifty Persons Injured in Frisco Line Wreck in Missouri.

TWO CARS OVERTURN

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 17.—Eight persons were seriously injured and nearly fifty slightly hurt in the collision which occurred early today at Nichols Junction, four miles west of here between two passenger trains on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad.

Both trains, No. 8, bound from Joplin west to Springfield, and No. 104, bound from Springfield to Kansas City, were proceeding slowly when the accident occurred and the crew of each train disclaims responsibility for the wreck. No. 8 struck No. 104 sidewise as the latter was leaving a switch, hurling the engine and baggage car of the Kansas City train off the track and its chair car and sleeper down a 12-foot embankment.

These two coaches turned over, pinioning its occupants between seats and sending a shower of broken glass into their faces. Passengers on the train from Joplin suffered little beyond a severe shake-up. A relief train from Springfield brought the injured to this city where fifteen were taken to hospitals. The others resumed their journey after treatment by physicians.

The only person whose recovery was held doubtful today, was Joseph Keel, of Springfield, Mo. He suffered a fractured shoulder, internal injuries and a scalp wound.

Wellfleet, Mass., Feb. 17.—Captain Garva and four seamen of the Italian bark Castagna perished when their vessel was thrown on the outer bar of Cape Cod near the Marconi wireless station just before dawn today.

The captain of the Castagna was washed overboard. The frozen corpses of three sailors were left in the rigging where the men had lashed themselves during the darkness to avoid being carried overboard by the seas that swept the decks. One man died in the surf boat on the way to shore, and the others were nearly all unconscious from exposure when brought ashore by life-savers.

ASKS FOR TROOPS IN CHURCH FIGHT

Bishop's Attorney Acts in Case of Rioting at South Bend.

WANTS LAW ENFORCED

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 17. Catholic church authorities interested in the fight at St. Casimir's Polish Catholic church here are determined that Rev. Stanislaus Gruza shall be installed in the parish next Sunday, and A. L. Hubbard, attorney for Bishop Herman J. Alerding, of Fort Wayne, has applied to Governor Ralston to send state troops to South Bend as soon as possible. The attorney for the bishop let it be known today that he has already written the governor in regard to the matter.

Word was received through the Rev. Andrew Morrisey, of Notre Dame university of the Order of Holy Cross, in which the bishop urged that his choice of a priest for the church be installed without further delay and that the law be enforced to the letter in connection with the parishioners. Trouble continues at the church today, but the rioting is being done chiefly by women and children.

HAS RECEIVED NO REQUEST.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 17.—Gov. Ralston before departing for Washington this afternoon said he had received no request for troops from South Bend. The report from South Bend was that a request for troops for next Sunday to prevent rioting in connection with the installation of the Rev Stanislaus Gruza in St. Casimir's Polish Catholic church had been made to the governor. The governor is going to Washington to attend the Knights of Pythias golden jubilee celebration.

TOT PLEADS FOR LIFE OF FATHER

Kisses Governor's Hand in Urging Clemency for Wife-Slayer.

RALSTON IS ANGERED

Indianapolis, Feb. 17. "Oh, you will save my papa won't you?" exclaimed Mary Cherka, 7 year old daughter of Steve Cherka, condemned to die next Friday for the murder of his wife, as she ran to Governor Ralston in his private office today and kissed his hand.

The little girl and her five-year-old brother, Philip, came down from Hammond, Ind., today in the care of an Indiana Harbor banker and other friends of Cherka. The governor plainly was embarrassed and angered by the demonstration. He declared it was not just to make a play upon his sympathies in such a manner. No hope for the wife murderer was given.

Last week the governor sent a letter to Warden Fogarty at the state prison stating that he would not commute the sentence of either Cherka or Harry Rasico, the Terre Haute wife murderer, who also is condemned to die next Friday.

Fred Castel, one of the men who accompanied the two Cherka children to Indianapolis, started to make a statement of the object of the visit, but Gov. Ralston cut him off short with the statement that the Cherka case has been determined and closed.

"I can do nothing more," said the governor, "and I shall not interfere further in the case. No matter what my personal sympathies may be, I have my duty to perform under the law and I have already taken final action in this case."

Little more was said and the two children were soon led from the room.

SPENDER OF FIVE FORTUNES IS DEAD

Erratic Career of Scion of Titled German Family is Ended.

INMATE OF A MISSION

Rochester, Minn., Feb. 17. Dr. Charles Victor Hugo Rothaker, graduate of Heidelburg, the son of a German baron and the spender of five fortunes, died here yesterday.

Rothaker had been an inmate of the old McAuley Water street mission, of New York, for the last two years. He was sent here by John H. Byburn, superintendent of the mission, to undergo an operation. Physicians decided an operation was useless.

Rothaker knew of his approaching death and spoke of leaving instructions for the disposition of his body. Death came sooner than he expected, however, and no provision was made. Rothaker's father was exiled from Germany because of alleged participation in a political plot. His mother was an authoress.

Rothaker was reticent about his life. He was 60 years old. His widow is said to be in Australia.

GORE CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Twelve Thresh Out Woman's Charges Against Blind Senator.

BOTH SIDES REST AS COURT OPENS

Alleged Conspiracy Figures in Judge's Charge to the Jury.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 17.—The case of Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, who is asking $50,000 damages from Thomas P. Gore, United States senator from Oklahoma, for an alleged attack made on her in a Washington hotel, was given to the jury for decision today.

Attorneys for both the plaintiff and defense rested when court opened today. Judge Clark then read his instructions to the jury, after which they retired to consider the evidence. The court instructed the jury to judge the evidence and credibility of the witnesses, both for the plaintiff and defendant.

Judge Clark referred to the alleged conspiracy against the senator and the jury was told that if there was a conspiracy and it was known to Mrs. Bond, then she was a party to it, and was not entitled to recover damages. As to character, the instructions said the past character of Mrs. Bond or Gore had no bearing in the case.

The court said if the jury believed an assault was attempted then the verdict should be for the plaintiff. If there was no attempt to assault or if there was a conspiracy in which Mrs. Bond was a party, then the verdict must be for the defendant, the court held.

Direct evidence for the defense was completed yesterday.

Senator Gore, who was on the witness stand the greater part of yesterday, denounced the charge that he attacked Mrs. Bond as an "infamous lie" and asserted that the prosecution of the suit on trial was being engineered by his political enemies in an effort to discredit him and cause his defeat in his campaign for renomination as the democratic candidate for senator. The senator denied that he had endeavored to have Mrs. Bond leave Washington and "hush the matter up," as was testified by a witness for the plaintiff, or that he had ever offered to compromise the suit or considered such a suggestion.

Mrs. Bond was recalled just before court adjourned yesterday and asserted that Senator Gore called her by telephone several times after the alleged attack, but that she refused to converse with him.

A. J. Jennings, former outlaw, but now a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma, was also on the witness stand for a few minutes. Jennings contradicted the testimony of a witness for the defense, who had asserted that James R. Jacobs, one of the witnesses summoned by Mrs. Bond, had proposed in the presence of Jennings to "call off" the suit if $25,000 was paid as a compromise.

BISHOP'S DAUGHTER DIES.

Miss Marguerite Quayle Succumbs to Cancerous Affection.

Chicago, Feb. 17. Miss Marguerite Quayle, daughter of Bishop Quayle, died at a hospital here early today while her father was rushing to her bedside on a fast train. Bishop Quayle was notified when his daughter became weaker last night and was due to arrive a short time after her death. Miss Quayle had been in the hospital here for two weeks. She underwent the radium treatment for a growth on her leg at a Baltimore hospital and was being returned to her home when she became critically ill and physicians decided to give her a complete rest in this city before continuing the journey. Mrs. Quayle was at her daughter's bedside when death came.

Vice President Speaks.

When Vice President Marshall walked slowly to his seat and called the senate to order the short and simple services began. Departing from the customary form, Mr. Marshall, in a voice full of feeling and lowered almost to a whisper, said:

"Senators, the hour has arrived at which in accordance with the orders of the senate the final ceremonies over the body of Augustus Octavius Bacon, late a senator from Georgia, and an unusually distinguished member of this body, are to be observed. In conformity to custom and in token of our common faith, the chaplain of the senate will offer prayer to God the High, God the Redeemer and God the Comforter."

Rev. Forrest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the senate, offered prayer: "We bless Thee for the life and work of this great man. We praise Thee that the hand of death was not laid upon him until he had spoken his message to the world and had sent forth the influence of a devoted life throughout our nation," he said. "Blest with a physical form which was animated by a presence, full of the repose of self-mastery, confident through a rich and varied scholarship, inflexible by reason of a consecrated will, dominated with a lofty aim, he faced and fulfilled the great demands of a faithful senator."

Episcopal Burial Service.

The Episcopal burial service was pronounced by Bishop Alfred Harding, of the Protestant Episcopal church, and benediction followed by the chaplain. After the lapse of probably a minute the vice president spoke again.

"To the loving hands of the committees of congress and the officers of the house," he said, "we consign the mortal body of our well beloved senator to be conveyed to his home in the state of Georgia, there to be deposited in its dual resting place. May his labors in the cause of constitutional liberty long bless the republic."

Members of the capitol police force bore the body back to the marble room, where it remained until escorted to the railway station for the journey to Atlanta where it will lie in state at the Georgia capital until taken to Macon for interment.

The funeral party that accompanied the body south included the committees appointed by the two houses of congress. Sergeant at Arms Higgins, the secretary of the senate, Senators Smith of Georgia, Tillman, Overman, Chilton, Fletcher, Pomerene, Thomas, O'Gorman, Vardaman, Gallinger, Root, Nelson, Brandegee and Page, Representatives Ferris, Willis, Mann, Payne, Gardner, Anthony, Dyer and Prouty, and the Georgia delegation, including Representatives Edwards, Park, Crisp, Adamson, Howard, Bartlett, Lee, Bell, Hardwick and Hughes.

bar early today during a blinding snowstorm and sixty-mile northwest gale. The beach patrol sighted her at dawn 300 yards off shore with the surf breaking over her and threatening to pound her to pieces. The combined life-saving crews from the Nauset and Cahoon's Hollow stations set up their beach gun and shot three lines across the Castagna's deck, but the sailors were so benumbed by the cold that they were unable to handle the breeches buoy tackle.

The gale had moderated to thirty miles an hour but the surf was so high that the life-savers had to wait for some time before they could launch their lifeboat and put out to the wreck against wind, sea and biting cold.

The survivors were carried to the Marconi wireless station, where medical attention was given. All were so greatly overcome by exposure that they could give no coherent account of the disaster.

MANY SHIPS DRIVEN BACK.

North Atlantic Gale Proves Too Severe for Passenger Steamers.

Queenstown, Ireland, Feb. 17.—Such violent storms have prevailed in the North Atlantic during the past week that many passenger steamers and cargo boats unable to battle against the strong winds and high waves encountered on their voyages to America have turned round and run for shelter to ports on this side of the Atlantic.

Three large steamers among those bound for the United States are returning to Europe in a severely battered condition. The French liner Niagara, which left Havre on February 7 for New York, lost her starboard propeller soon after she got out and is now crawling slowly back. The big Dutch oil tanker Rotterdam when eight days out from Amsterdam on her way to New York lost her rudder and was forced to make for Queenstown in tow of a steam trawler. The British steamer Tritonia from Glasgow for Mobile passed in today after being seven days out. Her steering gear was carried away and her decks badly damaged during the gale on Friday.

Another steam trawler is towing the British steamer Ludwig Greedel, bound from Barry to Malta. The ship lost her propeller off the Spanish coast on Thursday. The new Canadian American liner Frederick VIII., on her way from Copenhagen February 4 for New York, has been greatly delayed by the gale. She sent a wireless message today saying she is proceeding to Fayal to replenish her coal bunkers.

Several big cargo boats have put into St. Michaels during the last few days for repairs and fuel.

ACQUIRED VICE SINGING CARMEN

BREAKS HABIT HERE

The cigarette habit, acquired by her compulsion to smoke the insidious little paper pies while singing the title role in "Carmen," was broken for Miss Edna Howland, this morning, in the office of Dr. John H. Gilpin, secretary of the city board of health.

Miss Howland is singing this week at the Empress theater and resolved, while here, to take the nitrate of silver cure for the habit. Dr. Gilpin was selected to administer the treatment and with Manager Harry Crull, of the Empress, she visited Dr. Gilpin at his office in the city hall. The treatment was administered in a few seconds, the operation consisting only of giving her throat a bath in a solution of nitrate of silver.

Miss Howland submitted herself to the treatment with a display of unhesitating courage and was surprised ten seconds later when Dr. Gilpin, after introducing a saturated swab in her throat and withdrawing it, informed the pretty young lady that it was all over.

"Ugh! It's nasty enough to cure anything. But I thought it would take longer and might be terrible. Well, I hope I'm cured," and Miss Howland donned her furs and still making wry faces, but in good cheer, left Dr. Gilpin's office with Manager Crull.

Several years ago Miss Howland was one of the stars of the Aborn English grand opera company, well known in Fort Wayne. For a long time she sang the part of Carmen in Bizet's great operatic composition of that name. A proper rendition of the part necessitates that the singer smoke cigarettes and Miss Howland wanted to do all that an artistic characterization imposed, so she smoked cigarettes. In that way the habit fastened itself upon her with inexorable tyranny. She had tried repeatedly to overcome the habit, but like all narcotic vices, it was easy to acquire but terrible to conquer and she failed. Her voice had begun to suffer and her health to deteriorate and it was since coming to Fort Wayne that she learned of the nitrate of silver cure.

Miss Howland resolved to resort to it and the treatment given her by Dr. Gilpin followed. This treatment creates an intense distaste for cigarettes and Miss Howland believes she will be able to conquer a habit that had become her bane.

Charles Dushkind, of New York, representing a committee of ten important tobacco manufacturers, asked the house judiciary committee today to let the Sherman law alone and declared the trouble was the lack of enforcement of the present law. He contended that any attempt to define the laws' provisions further might increase trusts and monopolies and produce more litigation.

Mr. Edwards' commission dates from March 1 to May 1, 1915, the period covering the unexpired term of Mr. Payne. Both Mr. Payne and Edwards are democrats. Soon after the governor had affixed his signature to the commission for the $6,000 position, Mr. Edwards, who was waiting in the state house, took the oath of office. QUEEN LIL STILL RULES AN EMPIRE OF LOVING HEARTS.

QUEEN LILIUOKALANI AND HER HAWAIIAN HOME.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Feb. 14.—Stripped of her islands and her lands, living in but a faint recollection of her royal splendor, Liliuokalani still rules—although her empire is in the hearts of the loyal natives who remember her when her power was real.

She is 72 years old now—the woman who fought bravely against the trend of commercial greed that came out from the east and who saw her throne crumble when the United States recognized the provisional government which was formed by the revolutionists whom she believes—as do others—were inspired by American dollars that had greedy eyes upon the crown lands.

She is through fighting. She tried in vain to get some recompense from America, but has given up all hope. Her only reward is the loyal reverence of natives who have seen their island pass into the hands of modern American financiers, who have reaped rich rewards from its exploitation. To them she is still a queen and they go at evening to the modest home which is to them still the "palace."

Queen Lil, as she was termed when she made her journey to Washington in 1893, traces no long lineage of royal blood in her veins. She succeeded to the title from her brother. He was elected, through manipulation of American interests, to the throne in 1874. He was a postal clerk to whom the elevation from a meager salary to the revenues from a million and a half acres of rich lands made him amenable to the suggestions of those who had turned a clerk to a king in an hour.

When Liliuokalani became queen in 1891 her first act was to turn out the hordes of financial politicians. Then came revolution and the end of the empire.

ART SMITH WILL DO SOME STUNTS

Young Birdboy Says He Will Give Flights Here in Spring.

BUILDING A MACHINE

Art Smith, Fort Wayne's expert aviator, is working on another aeroplane and today the young birdboy stated that he intends to give Fort Wayne some flying exhibitions this spring such as the city has never witnessed before.

Just because the young man has been lying low this winter, so to speak, there was a sort of general idea about town that he was simply resting after a strenuous season last year, but the fact is that Art has been working every day on another machine and is doing all of the work himself this time, as "Wimp" Peters, his former mechanician, is not in town. "Wimp" learned to operate an air craft last summer while touring with Smith and now he is following the profession in the west. At present Peters is in California.

Smith stated this morning that during the past few months he has received many flattering offers for the coming season, and among others was one inviting him to make his headquarters in another city. Art, however, is possessed with a home loving spirit and says that he desires to continue in the profession as "the Fort Wayne birdboy."

The fact is that he has not signed up with anybody at the present, and as the aviation season in this part of the country does not open for some time, as far as exhibitions are concerned, he will have plenty time in which to secure promising bookings for next summer.

USES WANT AD COLUMNS.

James Eads How Attempts to Recruit Army of Unemployed.

St. Louis, Feb. 17.—The "want ad" columns in today's local newspapers were resorted to by James Eads How, the "millionaire hobo," in an effort to recruit an army of unemployed men whom he planned to lead in a march on the city hall this afternoon.

"The pageant of the unemployed," as How calls his demonstration, originally was set for last Friday, but a blizzard on that day supplied all the marchers with work shovelling snow. The men today will present a resolution to Mayor Henry W. Kiel, demanding that the city establish a commissary where the unemployed may buy food at cost.

The newly elected officers of Allen lodge No. 39, Degree of Honor, will entertain the members this evening at the Aldine hall.

Miss Maude Wilson has resigned her position at the Rurode dry goods store, to accept a place in the millinery department at Wolf & Dessauer's.

ICE MACHINE MEN ARE TO ORGANIZE

Special Meeting Will Be Held at the Public Library

FOR CO-OPERATION

At a meeting to be held Friday evening in the public library, an effort will be made to perfect an organization of all persons in Fort Wayne who are connected in any way with the manufacturing or marketing of mechanical refrigeration equipment. Notices have just been sent out to everybody owning, operating, manufacturing or selling refrigerating machinery and it is said that the purpose of the organization is for co-operation.

Two companies in Fort Wayne manufacture refrigerating and ice making machinery and they have installed numerous devices of the trade in dairies, ice cream plants, meat markets, breweries and packing houses and to manage and operate these plants requires the services of a large number of men. In as much as the interests of these men lie in the same direction an effort will be made to complete a mutual organization.

Different types and applications of refrigerating and ice making machinery will be described and discussed at the meeting and it is believed that the various difficulties and problems of the members can be worked out with the assistance of the organization and co-operation of members.

In the attendance contest between the Burr mission, of Chicago, and the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ, the Burr mission scored an easy victory over them Sunday evening, the score being 135 to 79. NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

TO IMPEACH HEAD OF COUNTY SCHOOLS

Suit is Filed in Adams Circuit Court Against Superintendent L. E. Opliger, of Decatur.

Decatur, Ind., Feb. 17.—Prosecuting Attorney Rolla C. Parrish has just filed in the circuit court a suit of impeachment against County Superintendent of Schools Lawrence E. Opliger for the purpose of outing him from his office. This is the second case of the sort that has been started against Superintendent Opliger.

The complaint, or showing, is in two counts, the first one dealing with official misconduct, and sets out numerous violations of his official duty, while the second deals wholly with his condition of mind. The showing is made by John T. Kelley, trustee of Jefferson township; John Mosure, of French township; Otis J. Suman, of St. Mary's township; Sam Butler, of Washington township; C. C. Beer, trustee of Monroe township; Frank C. Wechter, trustee of Blue Creek township, and W. L. Thornhill, trustee of Wabash township.

In the former case the impeachment charges came from a grand jury, but in the circuit court a plea in abatement to the proceedings was sustained and the matter went out of court.

Later a petition signed by a majority of the trustees was presented to him asking, for the good of the schools, that he resign, but this he refused to do and still holds on to the office. Practically, the new charges are but a repetition of the charges brought by the grand jury, except that some matters occurring since then are set out in the new showing.

AGED DECATUR RESIDENT PASSES

Decatur, Ind., Feb. 17.—William P. Moon, one of the best known men in the city and for years closely identified with its business and industrial life, was buried today from the home of his son, W. E. Moon, on North Seventh street, after an illness of about seven years. The immediate cause of death was a stroke of paralysis which he suffered on Sunday before his death.

Mr. Moon was born in Pennsylvania September 3, 1833, but when four years old his parents moved to Wayne county, Indiana, in the vicinity of Richmond, where he grew to manhood and resided until about forty years of age. He came to Decatur forty-two years ago and at once began contracting and building, and many of the buildings of the city were erected by him. He was also engaged in the grocery business for a time, in connection with his other work.

THEY MET IN FORT WAYNE.

Andrews, Ind., Feb. 17.—A Hillsdale, Mich., dispatch in the Fort Wayne Sentinel, Saturday, was the first knowledge the people of this place had that Miss Ruby Williams, a well known and much respected young woman of this place, had eloped with Foy Grimes, of Fort Wayne, to Hillsdale and there were married at the end of last week. The groom formerly resided here, where his father is now proprietor of a picture show. Miss Williams met Grimes in Fort Wayne by appointment and they fled to the Michigan Gretna Green. They returned Sunday to this place and will go in a short time to Lagrange, where Mr. Grimes will take a position in a drug store.

CHEEK TORN OUT BY DOG.

Kendallville, Ind., Feb. 17.—Henry Johnson, a florist here, is suffering much pain and a permanent disfigurement of his countenance as the result of an attack on him by a bulldog owned by Harry Hunt. Mistaking the bulldog for another canine he had often seen at the Hunt home when making deliveries of flowers, Mr. Johnson attempted to pat the bulldog as he was passing. The animal leaped into his face and bit a big chunk from his cheek, severing an artery.

TAKEN FROM HIS RUDE SHACK.

John Jenkins, Almost 90, Fought Zero Weather in Bark Hut.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 17.—"I don't want to leave here. I have not done anything, have I?" pitifully said John Jenkins, age 87, as he was being escorted to the county jail from a small bark hut on the Charles Bolinger farm, near Bippus. Jenkins objected, in the manner of child-like elderly men, on being deprived of the shelter of a wind-stricken, box-like house, about four feet in height, length and breadth. The elderly man occupied the structure during the recent cold nights and days.

Jenkins, whose home is in New York state, camped on the Warren township farm for several days. The aged man states that he became stranded near Bippus owing to the low temperature on a journey to Chicago. He said: "I didn't get very much sleep during the nights. I had to lay on a flat board and was forced to keep the fires going during the night so that I wouldn't freeze. I know it wasn't very comfortable, but I hated to ask to stay in anybody's house.

"I had plenty to eat. The farmers would give me potatoes, coffee, bread and other things to eat. I cooked them over a fire in the shanty. I have done that lots of times. Before coming to Bippus I had a shanty, almost like that one, near Servia."

Jenkins was engaged in partaking of a breakfast prepared through the aid of the "shanty" fire when taken in charge by officers.

At ten o'clock Rev. Ludwig, of Nebraska, will speak, at 2:30 there will be a sermon by Rev. Lange, of Fort Wayne, and at 7:00 o'clock Rev. Hinkle, of Ohio, will speak. The address in the evening will be in English but the morning and afternoon services will be in German.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE READY.

Auburn, Ind., Feb. 17.—Concord township's new eighteen thousand dollar school house at St. Joe was not ready for occupancy on Monday as it was thought would be possible a few days ago, however, there are indications that the students will be enabled to move from the temporary school quarters in the Widney opera house to the new structure on the hill next Monday.

The building is modern in architecture and well equipped, and ranks among the best school buildings in Northern Indiana. It was designed by C. H. Wetherhogg, Fort Wayne architect, and occupies the site of the old building that was razed.

FARM BARN BURNS; LOSS $2,500.

Kendallville, Ind., Feb. 17.—The explosion of a lantern is believed to have been the origin of a fire which destroyed the large barn on the farm of J. W. Wilson, two and one-half miles southwest of this city. The structure together with thirty tons of hay, 200 bushels of oats, 75 bushels of rye and large quantities of corn fodder and straw, went up in the flames. A number of horses and cattle and 125 head of sheep that were in the barn were brought out safely. The loss is $2,500 with $1,175 insurance.

Columbia City, Ind., Feb. 17.—Mr. William E. Smith and wife, and is a charming young woman, highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. They will reside in Allen county and best wishes of friends are extended them.

HURRIEDLY MODIFIED RULING.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 17.—The ruling made by principals of county high schools that boys attending these schools could not play on independent basketball teams received a severe jolt on the first trial, and as a result it has been materially modified. The new rule was first tried on Wilfred Felton, who was sent home from the Union Township school for playing with an independent team. Twenty boys of the school then signed a paper threatening a strike and presented it to Superintendent Peter Vitz. The high school authorities then had a meeting and modified the rule.

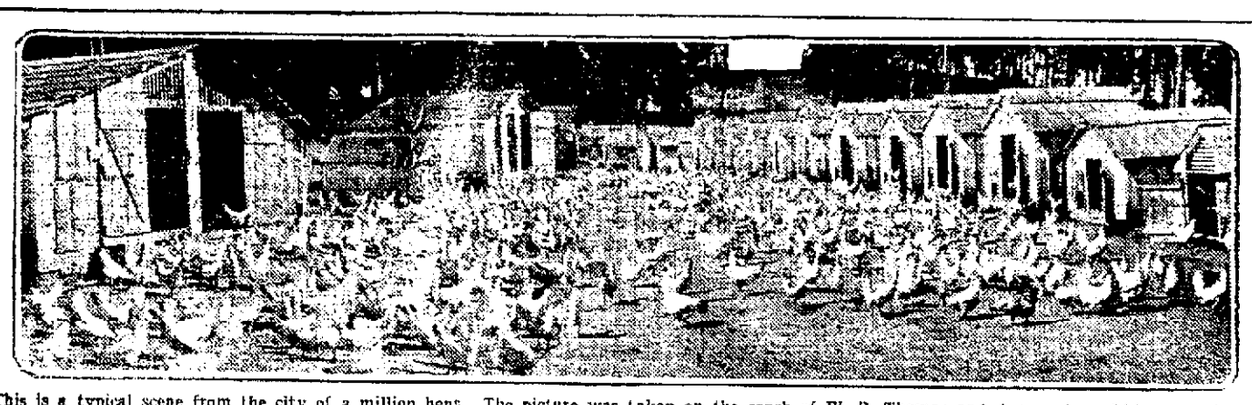
CODLED AND HAMPERED HENS OF WORLD'S GREATEST POULTRY CENTER REFUSED TO LAY IN WINTER, DESPITE PALATIAL HOUSES AND RICH FOOD.



This is a typical scene from the city of a million hens. The picture was taken on the ranch of W. R. Thomas and shows a few of his 5,000 white Leghorn hens. Thomas is an average rancher and his holdings are not large. There are numerous chicken ranches that run as high as 10,000 laying hens.

Petaluma, Cal., Feb. 17.—In this, the world's largest poultry center, with a chicken population of 2,000,000 and an annual output of 1,000,000,000 eggs, the hen is coddled and pampered like a queen.

She lives on richest food, and walks on finest loam. Palatial houses, in which many a man would be thankful to house his family, are provided for her comfort. She is even relieved of the responsibilities of scratching for the incubated second generation.

And all as an inducement to break egg-laying records.

Her response has astonished the world.

In the aggregate she brings in over $3,000,000 a year to the poultrymen of Petaluma. In the entire county—Sonoma—the figure is $5,000,000.

The incubators, from which over 5,000,000 chicks are hatched annually, many broods coming out in hundred thousand lots, are heated by gas and electricity, with a low minimum of loss.

Every day in the year $10,000 in cash is turned over to the chicken ranchers here.

"If a man can't make more than $1 a hen annually, he ought to quit," is the local slogan of success. Many poultrymen realize from $2 to $2.50 per hen.

The ranches range in size from two acres, capable of supporting $800 chickens, to 160 acre farms, where from 8,000 to 10,000 are kept on the cooperative colony plan.

Practically the entire chicken population is White Leghorn, because this bird is of the egg rather than the flesh type and because the founders of feathered Petaluma began with Leghorns. Chickens laying a brown egg are taboo for market reasons.

Despite all their high schooling, however, the Petaluma hens still observe the proprieties of feathered grandmothers, refusing to lay many eggs during the winter months.

Hence the high price of eggs and a waiting niche in the galaxy of the immortals for the man who can produce the year-round laying hen.

LISTEN MOTHER DO BE CAREFUL

If child is cross, constipated, sick, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Works 26 Years to Find Violin Secret

R. C. Yates

Chicago Heights, Ill., Feb. 17.—For 26 years Richard Yates worked and struggled and experimented in an effort to discover the secret of the violin makers of Cremona. He says that at last he has found it and that from his humble workshop in the attic of his home will soon issue instruments that will rival in tone those made by Stradivarius centuries ago. Not the age, but the varnish, which gives an evenness of vibration, is the answer of the "lost art," says Yates.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually conquering it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and bronchitis.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help relieve a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, but the old successful mixture has never been equaled. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Matthew 9:1-13.

1 And he entered into a ship, and passed over, and came into his own city.

2 And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed; and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy: Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee.

3 And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

4 And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts?

5 For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgotten thee; or to say, Arise, and walk?

6 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his house.

8 But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men.

9 And as Jesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man, named Matthew, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he saith unto him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to pass, as Jesus sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with him and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto his disciples, Why eateth your master with publicans and sinners?

12 But when Jesus heard that, he said unto them, They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick.

13 But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1914.

The Governorship Bee

Despite the fact that Governor Ralston has served but one-fourth of his four-year term, and that the date for the selection of his successor is as yet a long distance away, that industrious little insect, the governorship bee, is reputed to be already buzzing in energetic fashion. The lure of its seductive melody is plainly distinguishable to the ears of half a dozen or more democrats. It is said to be particularly in evidence at Washington, where three members of the Indiana delegation in the lower house are credited with ambition to occupy the gubernatorial chair at Indianapolis. Representative John A. M. Adair, of Portland, is undoubtedly to be considered an avowed candidate. His name has been frequently mentioned in that connection, and, it may be said in passing, invariably with favor.

Representative Henry A. Barnhart, of Rochester, and Representative W. Moss, of Center Point, are the other two members of the Indiana delegation who are doing a heap of thinking and some quiet planning with reference to the Indiana governorship. All this, of course, is outside of and apart from the uncounted list of amiable gentlemen at present not in office who have a conviction that the governor's shoes would about fit their pedal extremities, but who have not as yet confided their belief to the general public. It takes no account, either, of the rather fanastic political tale now going the rounds that the Taggart "machine" has determined to get behind a proposition to elevate Mayor Bell, of Indianapolis, to the state house position. Meanwhile, the situation thus far in advance of the nomination and election does not appear to be one over which the general public need indulge in any worry. Let the aspiring gentlemen who want the job do all of that for the present.

Effectiveness of the recently-launched crusade for nation-wide prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicants is nowhere disclosed more strikingly than in the energetic tactics of the liquor interests to combat the movement. Remonstrances are being circulated and signed in every quarter where it is possible to obtain them. Scores of them have gone forward to Congressman Cline from this district, petitioning him to vote against the proposed amendment. Only the conviction that the new movement of the temperance forces means business and is likely to produce results would be sufficient to stir their opponents to the frantic activity now manifest in the ranks of the liquor interests.

There are no better or more persistent boosters in any section of Fort Wayne than are those residents of Bloomingdale, who have been making for several years a consistent and undaunted fight for improvements. All seasons are alike to them, and they never tire. Their effort for the construction of a new bridge across the St. Mary's river at Harrison street is a concrete example of their enthusiastic determination, and it may be safely predicted that they will win. You simply cannot halt the forward march of the north side folk.

Vedrines, the French aviator, seems to be having prodigious difficulty in arranging the terms of the duel he is or is not to fight with M. Quinton, but he may perhaps feel that he needs the advertising since the profession of air navigation is becoming a bit overcrowded.

The Northern Indiana Editorial association has indicated its purpose to hold its 1914 convention in Fort Wayne. Well, the hardworking country editor is certainly entitled to a treat of this character once in awhile.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the east, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are such used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid ephedrine; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound tincture cardamom compound and cardamom; mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever, and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

ILLITERACY FIGURES.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Figures on illiteracy in the United States are interesting, but not so vital as some are trying to make it appear. For example, the statement in the report of the house committee on education that the total of 2,273,603 illiterates over 21 years old is "enough to determine any national election at any period of our history" is not particularly stunning. It would be enough to determine any national election if the illiterates all acted together for that purpose, and that the literate population hearing of it did not combine to prevent the rule of the country by non-readers. But by the very circumstances of the case the illiterates will not combine, being drawn to the support of one party or another by prejudices rather more unconquerable than those held by the element that can read or write.

Of the 2,273,000 illiterates, 617,000 are native whites, including both those of native, foreign and mixed parentage; 819,000 are negroes and 736,000 are immigrants. There are interesting and encouraging points with regard to the two latter classes. The negro illiterates seem to be a large number. But it represents a decrease of 157,000 during the decade, while the total of that population shows an increase of 398,000. The illiterate negroes are almost wholly located in the south, where they are not permitted to vote and are decreasing there.

Of the foreign-born illiterates considering that their total is not greater than an average year's immigration and that many never get naturalized, it is safe to conclude that a small number of the 738,000 are voters. The children of foreign or mixed parentage make a very remarkable showing; their total is 4,500,000. Of this only 60,000 are illiterates, only 1.3 per cent., a reduction of one-third from the percentage of ten years earlier.

We may conclude from these figures that the country is doing fairly well. The native white illiterates are the least understandable class. But it seems likely that they will diminish by the same influences that affect the children of foreign-born parents and the negro races.

THE GOOD ROADS BILL.

(Indianapolis News.)

The house of representatives, by a vote of 282 to 42, passed the Shackleford good roads bill, carrying an appropriation of $25,000,000. This money is, we understand, to be divided among the states in proportion to their population and road mileage. This practice of distributing federal revenue among the states is vicious. It is an invasion of the principle of local self-government which requires that local governments shall perform their own functions and pay their own bills. No state ought to be willing to be a pensioner on the federal treasury. The people of Indiana are entirely able to pay for their own roads. They ought to insist on doing so, or, if they do not, ought to be required to do so. The next thing some statesmen will suggest that the federal government vote money for street building in our cities. And why not? Many city streets run into country highways, the latter not being a part of the street only because the city has not extended its boundaries.

But we need not anticipate such a possibility as an argument against the bill. It is enough to point out the wrong principle that underlies it. The democrats are finding it a difficult matter to comply with their platform pledge of economical government. Here is a good chance to save $25,000,000, and at the same time to establish a sound principle.

Cuba's best customer for cigars is Great Britain, which takes 60,000,000 every year.

Santa Claus Girl Has a New Idea

Miss Olive Wilson

Jenkintown, Pa., Feb. 17. Since time immemorial Santa has been depicted as an old, old, white-haired man, riding in a sleigh drawn by jingling-belled reindeer.

But now comes a "Santa Claus Girl," a 17-year-old miss, with large, appealing eyes and heaps of fluffy hair. She is Miss Olive Wilson.

Miss Wilson has gone to Washington to ask congress to grant the right to send Christmas presents through the mails under frank.

Speaking of her efforts so far among senators and representatives, Miss Wilson said: "Representative A. Mitchell Palmer has promised to introduce a bill and read it into the record which will grant the franking privilege in this work. I have a nice letter from Vice President Marshall endorsing the plan. Senator John Sharp Williams, Representatives Underwood, Moon and many others have said they would favor the plan also."

MEAT HIGH? THEN WE'LL ALL RAISE BULLFROGS, SAY SOUTHERNERS.

New Orleans, Feb. 13.—If you have been paying tribute to the butcher seven days a week like all the rest of us, this little announcement will undoubtedly interest you:

Bullfrogs are being grown by the millions in Louisiana this year to take the place of fancy-priced steaks all over the country!

They are as cheap as the mud they wallow in. Instead of being a luxury at the cafes at $2.50 an order, you will be able to have them at home for a dime each.

You probably shudder at the thought of eating a giant bullfrog. But, let me tell you, they're far more palatable than spring chicken.

They're no common, ordinary bullfrogs, these Louisiana animals. First of all, they're about ten times the size of the frogs that hang around the creeks and river banks up north.

JUST A SAMPLE OF A LOUISIANA FROG—IT'S TEN TIMES AS GIG AS A NORTHERN FROG.

Why, one of these ordinary-sized Louisiana frogs is big enough to feed three persons with ordinary appetites.

The photographs are a very good proof. Twice the size of the boy's hand.

The bullfrog industry—yes, it's a mighty big industry—is as old as the state of Louisiana itself. Up to a couple of years ago, however, there were only a hundred or so persons who made a fair living by catching them in swamps and shipping them to the northern markets.

No expense; big profit.

The meat was pretty tender, but some Luther Burbank decided that by feeding frogs big mosquitoes and keeping them in a clean farm with a clean pool he could make 'em much tenderer.

He succeeded.

Now there are countless bullfrog farms in the state.

The common way of catching bullfrogs is in the swamps at night. In the marshes within a few miles of New Orleans you can get 'em that way.

The frog hunter is equipped with a gas lamp, fitted on his hat like a miner's torch. With a sack in his hand, he wades into the swamps. He hears the croak of the bullfrog, follows it up, shines his light on the animal—

If he is quick, he has the frog in the sack.

The light temporarily blinds the animal, and it's a simple process to throw him into a bag.

BRANNING IS RE-ELECTED.

Two Prominent German Societies Hold Annual Meetings.

The annual meeting of the Bruederlicher Unterstuetzungs verein was held Monday evening, and under a suspension of rules, Henry E. Branning, who is still a patient at the Lutheran hospital, was re-elected president. The rules of the organization require that all candidates for office be present at the meeting. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, Professor F. A. Klein; recording secretary, Charles H. Buck; financial secretary, Professor H. Konow; treasurer, William Gerding; trustee for second district, William Kayser; trustee for third district, H. Wahrenberg.

The Gegenseitige Unterstuetzungs verein also held its annual meeting Monday evening and officers were elected as follows: President, Herman Witte; vice president, Henry Bullerman; recording secretary, Charles H. Buck; financial secretary, Professor H. Konow; trustee for third district, Christian Koenig; trustee for fourth district, John Wesseloh.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 17.—State's Attorney Judson has quashed the manslaughter indictments against five officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, but refused to annul the indictment against former President Charles S. RHEUMATISM

Remarkable Home Cure Given by One Who Had It—He Wants Every Sufferer to Benefit.

Send No Money—Just Your Address.

Years of awful suffering and misery have taught this man, Mark H. Jackson, of Syracuse, New York, how terrible an enemy to human happiness rheumatism is, and have given him sympathy with all unfortunates who are within its grasp. He wants every rheumatic victim to know how he was cured. Read what he says:

"I Had Sharp Pains Like Lightning Flashes Shooting Through My Joints."

"In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long looked for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. MARK H. JACKSON,
No. 664 Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y."

GARBAGE PLANT IS MAYOR'S PLAN

Believes New Plant Located on Railway Line Ought to Be Realized.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

A new garbage disposal plant located outside the city on some line of electric railway is Mayor Hosey's notion of what should be done for the solution of the local garbage problem. Supplemental to this the mayor would have several loading stations in different sections of the city in order to promote economy and facilitate more efficient collection.

Mayor Hosey believes that the disposal plant ought to be situated where it will not be the occasion of offense and that it should be on a railway in order that garbage and fuel may be delivered easily. He believes that the city can acquire in different sections of the city small tracts for loading stations, build spurs to them from the car lines and have a specially constructed tank or car set at each station where the garbage wagons can dump their collections without long hauls across the city. The cars the mayor has in mind would be of a type that could be closed and would be hauled at night to the disposal plant.

Favors Duplicate Can System.

Mayor Hosey is impressed with the value of the duplicate garbage can system of collection, both from the economical and sanitary standpoint. By the duplicate can system a cleaned and empty garbage receptacle is always left by the garbage collector at the place from which a filled can is removed. This can be done at the same time and in a much shorter period than a filled receptacle can be emptied into the wagon and replaced.

"I believe that on all accounts the duplicate can system would be the thing to adopt here," said Mayor Hosey, in discussing the proposal. "It makes collection more thorough and it enables collection to be made oftener and I believe at less actual cost. From the sanitary standpoint it is the thing. Closed cans can be hauled on wagons constructed for that purpose, and it would not be an offensive thing to haul them through the streets. There would be no unsightliness, no escape of foul odors and no dripping over the streets and crossings as now is the case. And when it come to fulfillment of the purpose for which in the first place we have a system of garbage disposal, which is to remove garbage, it would in every way promote efficiency."

Need Modern Type of Crematory.

Mayor Hosey does not believe the present crematory can be rebuilt into anything with capacity enough to take care of Fort Wayne's garbage product, and the location, besides its inconvenience in being removed from any line of track on which fuel can be delivered, is objectionable on other accounts.

Mayor Hosey stated that the solution of the garbage problem in Fort Wayne would be taken up at no distant day and that before the end of his administration the plans would be carried out. The special levy for a new garbage disposal plant will this year produce about $10,000. Next year a larger levy may be made if necessity is indicated.

Mayor Hosey is of the opinion that the old crematory on North Clinton street, need not be abandoned, but may be usefully kept for the destruction of various kinds of city waste and perhaps economically for the destruction of garbage that can be hauled to it with convenience.

ORDERS BUILDING RAZED.

An old building on Dock street, just west of Calhoun, has been condemned by Fire Chief Hilbrecht and Building Inspector Wyss, and the building inspector has notified the owners, the Fort Wayne Smelting and Refining company, to raze the building within thirty days. The structure is a very old one and is held to constitute a needless fire risk in the neighborhood.

WANT TO KNOW ABOUT "MOVIES."

Mayor Hosey has received a letter from the Anti-Defamation League of America, making extensive inquiries concerning the manner of censorship employed in Fort Wayne to prevent the exhibition of objectionable moving pictures. The Anti-Defamation League is an organization whose purpose is to prevent the libelous and offensive caricature on the stage, in moving pictures and in periodicals of different races.

KING SUFFERS BROKEN ARM.

Belgian Monarch Is Pitched From His Horse and Injured.

Brussels, Feb. 17.—Albert I., king of the Belgians, broke his left arm today. He was thrown from his horse while riding in the forest of Sergbies not far from the battlefield of Waterloo. His majesty's escape from more serious injury was a narrow one. Exaggerated reports caused much concern in the Belgian capital. The king's physician allayed anxiety by a bulletin describing the injury and declaring that no grave consequences were likely to ensue from the accident "as the king's general health is good and he is a young man."

King Albert I. is 38 years old. He succeeded his uncle, Leopold, on December 17, 1909.

ALLOT $80,000 TO HARRISON BRIDGE

County Council Makes Appropriation for Structure Over St. Marys.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

In total appropriations of $104,000 for new bridge work and bridge extension work the county council this afternoon allotted $80,000 for a new bridge over the St. Mary's river at Harrison street.

This project is one for which northside people long have fought and the council made the appropriation with evident willingness. The action came following a meeting held during the forenoon with a large delegation of Bloomingdale residents, city officials and others. The bridge will be constructed as soon as practicable and the probabilities are that it will be of steel.

Harrison street has been opened by the city in preparation for this improvement and the Lake Shore railroad has already supplied the crossing over its tracks north of the river.

Other bridge appropriations by the council this afternoon were:

For bridge at Corkscrew Hill, on the Leo road, $5,000.

For bridge over Spy Run on the Lima road, $6,000.

For bridge over Spy Run at Fourth street, $8,000.

For new wing to the State bridge, $5,000.

The council received a large delegation of Bloomingdale residents, consisting in large part of those who waited on the county commissioners yesterday, and listened to the arguments for a new bridge across the St. Mary's river. Mayor Hosey, the members of the board of public works, City Engineer Randall and a number of others were present. Hon. P. A. Randall, Frank E. Singrey, of the board of works, President William A. Bayer, of the city council, and others spoke in favor of a provision to build the bridge. The commissioners yesterday assured the delegation that the next big bridge to be built would be one at Harrison street and the sentiment expressed before the county council today was for a bridge at that point.

Elect Hattersley Member.

One of the first acts of the county council when it assembled was to elect Byron S. Hattersley a member to succeed James J. Hayes, who resigned the first of the year in order to accept membership on the board of public safety in Mayor Hosey's administration. Mr. Hattersley is one of the firm of Hattersley & Sons, plumbers and electrical contractors, and is as widely known as any man in Fort Wayne. He has always lived in this city and is a business man of uncommon force and ability. He was urged for the place by numerous citizens and the board elected him to the place made vacant with evident pleasure.

Mr. Hattersley took his colleagues of the council, the board of commissioners, Henry Hilgeman, of the board of works, and former County Auditor George Otrlieb to dinner at the Hof Brau.

The county council will be in session tomorrow and many other matters remain to be disposed of in addition to signing the resolutions for this afternoon's appropriations.

STORY OF PANAMA TOLD IN GAMES ON WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

There is no time more appropriate for a children's party than Washington's birthday. A child's mind is easily fired with patriotic sentiments and love of one's country makes honorable citizens.

With crepe paper and at very little expense and work little girls and boys can be transformed into fantastic as well as historic characters.

A little game can be made on the Panama canal.

How long has it been building by the Americans?

Six years.

Who else tried to build it?

The French.

How long is it?

Thirty five miles.

How deep is it?

Forty-one feet.

How wide is it?

Two hundred feet.

How many locks has it?

Three.

What waters does it connect?

Atlantic and Pacific.

What man has charge of its building now?

Col. Goethals.

How much will it cost?

If your children are small, some one can tell them a little story about the canal and then ask them the questions. If, however, they are in the high school, the questions may be written and handed to each one and the answers written.

All Dressed Up for Washington's Birthday.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McClish Entertain on Golden Wedding Day.

Ashley, Ind., Feb. 17. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McClish celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home in Ashley, on February the eleventh. A big dinner of bountiful preparation was one of the delightful things ready for the entertainment of the company. Mr. and Mrs. McClish were married Feb. 11, 1864, near Hudson, (Ind.) and settled on a farm near there. A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. McClish moved from the farm to Ashley, where they now live. The children and grandchildren of the aged couple, numbering thirty-five in all, were at the golden wedding celebration and presented their parents a suitable gift. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Mose Stomm and children, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClish and son, Mrs. Ada Rainvehl and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McClish and daughter, William McClish and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Krieger and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ahern Smith and son and a few other near relatives. All spent a pleasant day and the wedding day celebrants received many congratulations and good wishes.

AT THE TEMPLE

Such a good show as is going on this part of the week at the Temple theater deserves a special mention. Firstly it is a clean show; secondly, it is a laughing one, and thirdly, it presents two numbers that any solemn, sober-faced man or woman should see, so as to relax and put on a smile that will stay.

The Lester Trio will make anybody laugh in their face, "The Bath Room Mystery." Doris Lester, as Vera Softly, is an exhilirating young woman with a laugh that brings many smiles of sympathy from the audience. The act is awfully funny and one of the best that has been seen in the local stage this season.

Carl McCulloch is a decided favorite with Temple audiences. His powerful and yet melodious voice, his manner of singing, his splendid power of mimicry and impersonation captivate everyone who hears him and he is brought back again and again to sing another song. His line of department store salesswoman and his impersonation of Harrh Lauder are two of the best things he does.

Miss Lillian Ashley in an unusual list of songs and stories makes good with every audience. She is a good looking, prettily dressed woman of decided originality, as well as ability. The matinee audience yesterday did not take kindly to one line of her talk, evidently because it was profane and irreverent. Temple audiences stand for a number of words included in the list of "swear" words and appear to enjoy them, but once in a while somebody goes a bit farther and the laugh of the audience is limited to the few people who don't care what is said.

Frank Seymour and Alice Robinson have a classy act; They are eccentric comedians and Miss Robinson is as dainty and agile a dancer and tumbler as you can find. The Duffin Redcay troup of aerialists are artists in their line of work and they do some startling things.

AT THE EMPRESS

Empress theater patrons are astonished this week at the remarkable display of intelligence exhibited by the Robinson elephants, and it seems impossible to the average man or woman that these huge beasts are able to execute such a large and varied number of tricks. The elephants offer one of the best vaudeville acts brought to Fort Wayne this season and the audiences enthusiastically show their appreciation. After having witnessed the performance and marveled at the readiness with which the elephants do their turns, one cannot help but wonder at and speculate on the training of the beasts. Who trained them and how long did it take to teach them even one trick? At any rate we are certain that the man who puts them through their many turns is confident of their ability and has absolute faith in them for in several numbers his life would be crushed out by one little misstep or one accidental slip of a foot. At one time during the act he is lying on the floor below all four of the heavy animals, protected only by the limbs of the largest.

The current Empress bill is varied. One enjoys a little music, some dancing, a bit of minstrelsy and also some drama, and each act is high class and worthy of the applause tendered the performers. Coakland, McBride and Millo, three old-time minstrel men, have songs, jokes and dances galore and give fifteen minutes of hilarious entertainment. Virginia West, the dainty singing comedienne, possesses a strong and beautiful voice and during her act offers a number of difficult selections. Krammer and Howland have one of those artistic yet foolish offerings of music and mirth. Both sing, the female end of the double plays the piano and as a windup both participate in a graceful little dance number. The Three Newmans have a bicycle act and aside from the old and well known tricks awheel have a few new stunts and among other things give a boxing contest while riding, something new and very entertaining.

A beautiful miniature rural drama is offered in "Daddy" and with an excellent cast of artists this act is one of the distinct hits of the present Empress bill.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Peg O' My Heart" Tonight and Tomorrow, Matinee and Night.

"Peg O' My Heart," with dainty Florence Martin in the leading role of the wistful Irish madcap, is at the Majestic again tonight and tomorrow. The old adage to the effect that "The Play's the thing," has never been more fully brought home than by the phenomenal success of J. Hartley Manners' bewitching comedy of youth.

The character of Peg is one of the most original, appealing and lovable ones that has ever been cisualized on the stage, and Florence Martin, the young American actress, brings charming naivette to the role.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth."

Even at a time when stagecraft seems to have reached the apex of possibilities the massive scenic splendor of stage mounting in "The Winning of Barbara Worth," which will be presented at the Majestic two days, on Thursday and Friday, is said to be nothing short of staggering. Those who have read the celebrated book by Harold Bell Wright, from which the play has been made, will be quick to see the great opportunities offered the producers for scenic beauty. The curtain rises on a wonderful desert scene, immediately after a sand storm, in which the father and mother of the heroine have lost their lives. In the second act is seen the city of Barba before the flood and the last act shows the ruin and devastation of the same city after the flood has done its work.

Seat Sale for Rose Stahl Tomorrow Morning.

She slips on to the stage very quietly, so quietly that the audience anticipating her entrance, don't realize for some minutes that it is really "Maggie Pepper"- Rose Stahl. As she stands there waiting, they merely notice a short, wiry, rather hard-faced little woman, with quick movements and tawny hair, the kind of weather beaten girl you can find behind the counters of any big department store anywhere. Long hours, hard work and confinement, had hardened the lines of her face. The day-long endurance of the stupidity and bad manners of those who buy dry goods have given her that cold glance and the cynical curve to the lips. She is typical of the deft-fingered, nimble tongued women who are "saleasladies" in retail stores, so typical that one catches one's breath as though recognizing an acquaintance on the stage. The art of Miss Stahl is shown as the play progresses for the hard cynical Maggie Pepper softens as she succeeds, becomes gentle and refined in the higher station, the tawny hair gains the lustre of gold and all in all she typifies the woman who has worked and won. Miss Stahl and her excellent supporting company will appear in this three act Charles Klein play at the Majestic Saturday matinee only.

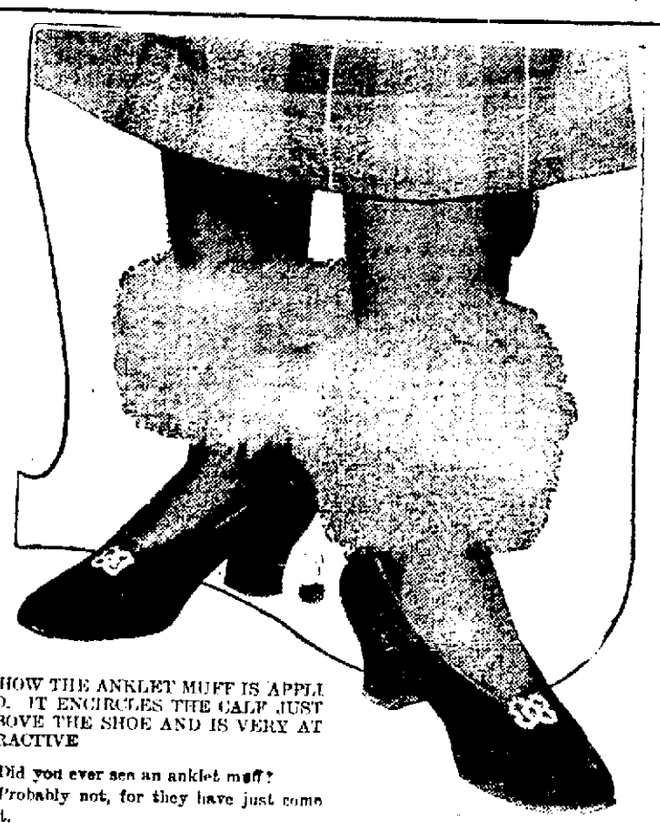
FASHION'S LATEST—THE ANKLET MUFF.



HOW THE ANKLET MUFF IS APPLIED. IT ENCIRCLES THE CALF JUST ABOVE THE SHOE AND IS VERY ATTRACTIVE

Did you ever see an anklet muff?

Probably not, for they have just come out.

The anklet muff is a tiny band of any "smart" fur, and straps tightly above the ankle, just above the line of the shoe or slipper top. It may match the gown, or contrast with the color of the silk stocking. It may be made to fit the curve of a tango slipper or it may be laced gracefully up under the skirt.

Anyway, it solves a great problem. Milady of fashion must wear a slit skirt. It is an unalterable edict of the fashion dictators. But still, she likes to be warm. On a chilly day when the gusty wind blows in under the fashionable slit in the new spring gown, you feel keenly the need of some comfortable wrap to keep you warm. The anklet muff is the answer. In it you are a warm one.

THE DRESS IMPROVER.

According to report from Paris we are threatened with a revival of the so-called dress improver, that horrid little contrivance of horse hair or wire that was used for throwing out the skirts below the waist at the back. Should it return it will be all the more remarkable because the tendency of the last six months has been toward fullness and bunchiness in front, a very curious fashion.

The pannier has led partly to the bunchiness at the back, which invites the arrivals of the dress improver, and the practice of the dressmakers in preparing evening gowns of throwing any fullness to the back, leaving front and sides perfectly flat, might seem to conduce to the same end. But fashion is now even more sudden in its changes than the weather itself, and the approaching spring opening may banish all fears about the dress improver. Let us hope it may not be in a direction still worse! The optimistic may hope that it might be possibly for the better.

HOUSEWORK VS. NERVES.

Some years ago a minister astonished the women of society by advising them to try vigorous housework as a preventive and cure for their various ills and ailments.

It is a remedy which physicians have not hesitated to prescribe for nervous patients occasionally, but with small hopes of their instructions being followed, as housework is one of those simple, sensible cures we do not wish to take.

Yet housework has been weighed and not found wanting as a beneficial form of exercise for the fragile woman, a panacea for nervous troubles, and a way of keeping fit and vigorous. In fact, such a excellent remedy has it proven that at a certain nursing home near New York it is a part of the cure, and so successful have been the results obtained that many well known doctors are contemplating the advisability of establishing the same sort of place.

CAROLINE COE'S TESTED RECIPES.

Baked Beans.

Soak 4 cups beans over night in cold water. In the morning add fresh cold water and cook slowly until the skins begin to burst. Pour off water, and turn beans in bean pot or jar. Bury in the beans ¾ pound of fat salt pork. To 1 cup boiling water add 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon molasses, 3 tablespoons sugar, and pour over beans. Add enough boiling water to cover beans, and more if needed during cooking. Cover the bean jar and bake slowly from 6 to 8 hours. Mustard may be added if the flavor is preferred. This quantity should serve eight persons.

Lentil Croquettes.

Use split peas if desired. Soak ½ cup lentils or split peas over night. Cook with one stalk of celery until soft, or about two hours. Drain and press through a sieve. Add 1 cup stale breadcrumbs, 1 egg, ¾ tablespoon melted butter, a few drops onion juice, and salt and pepper. Cool and shape into croquettes. Roll in crumbs, then in egg, then in crumbs again, and fry in deep fat.

HOMEMADE COSMETICS.

So many simple home remedies are within the reach of the beauty seeker that any woman who desires can be beautiful or at least decidedly pretty if she will but take the trouble to apply these remedies to her own needs. For instance, did you ever know that milk that simple household commodity can be used in a number of ways to add to one's good appearance.

New milk, skimmed milk and butter each possess properties peculiar to itself, and all make simple and useful washes, having a general emollient action upon the skin. If used daily they make the skin soft, smooth and white and preserve it from the effects of exposure to weather. Butter milk is wonderfully useful for freckles and relieves many irritations of the skin. Pure fresh cream is a simple and effective remedy for chapped hands and lips.

Cats Make a Good Living for Women

Columbus, O., Feb. 17.—Cats—highbrow cats—can make you a living. Take the word of Mrs. John W. Paylor, Columbus, O., for it. She knows, for she's just moved into a comfortable new house for which she paid with "cat money." "I started this business about a year ago with one cat," says Mrs. Paylor. "Last Christmas I sold 142 kittens for Christmas gifts. I got as high as $850 a pair for some of my cats. Everybody likes cats, and every cat lover wants a classy, high-bred cat. That's why I'm able to build a new house."

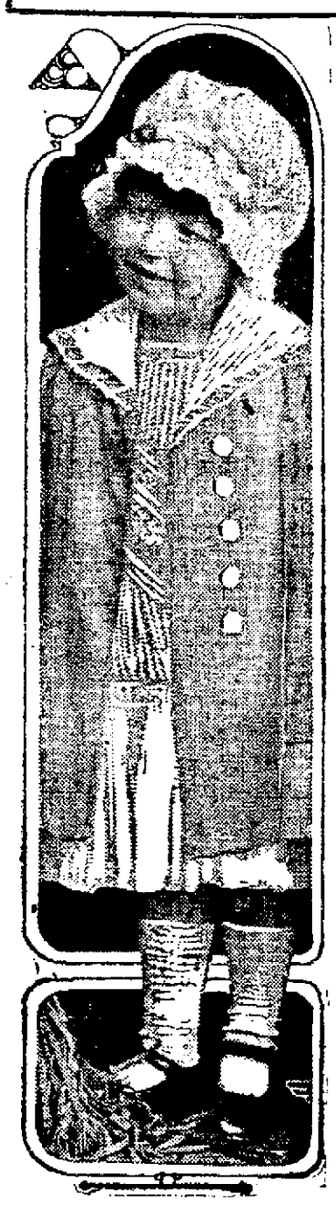
Helen Earns Money Playing With Dolly



LITTLE HELEN.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Feb. 12.—Chubby little Helen Armstrong is going to be a grown-up star some day. Just now she is earning a nice, thick pay envelope, all the same grown folks' kind, by merely being natural and doing what the director tells her to do.

"Play with your dolly, Helen, as if there were no one around," the director may say to her today.

And "run through that door, put Collie on the head and whisper to mother sitting at that chair just as if you were telling her a great big secret," may be her day's directions tomorrow.

But, whatever it may be, it is perfectly simple. Yet one of little Helen's chief claims to the nice, thick pay envelope is her ability to do these simple things quite naturally.

It sounds so easy. But it is the art which the grown actor studies years to acquire.

Of course, you have seen little Helen very often, for she plays all the chief child parts in the pictures produced by the American Film company here.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE COSTS NO MORE THAN "SOMETHING JUST AS GOOD"

Why Take Chances

For a woman to adorn her head with false braids, puffs and rats, or a man to wear a toupee, is like buying an off-brand hair preparation instead of Newbro's Herpicide. The "false hair" and the "off brand" are both substitutes for the real thing. The original is always conceded to be better than any imitation or substitute. "Something just as good" is a heresy of the rankest kind.

Newbros' Herpicide is the remedy and does as promised. Years of success and thousands of satisfied users have made it standard. Herpicide destroys dandruff, keeps the scalp clean and stops falling hair. Its proper use before baldness appears makes false hair and wigs unnecessary.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Application may be obtained at good barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Send 10c in postage for sample and book on "The Care of the Hair," to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. For sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

A UNIQUE DISCOVERY WHICH MAKES A FORTUNE

The wonderful recipe which was discovered almost by accident after experimenting with a digestive vegetable recommended by a celebrated French doctor, has brought for a young English singer (who had suffered for years with indigestion) a fortune, and has led to carloads of this wonderful article being brought before the American public. Every housewife in England has welcomed this wonderful Waw-Waw into her household because it added a delight to her table when used in the cooking, and with soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish, but at the same time it has had a marvelous digestive effect. Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American word for vegetable) is a purely vegetable sauce and contains no raw spices and is guaranteed absolutely pure. Waw-Waw is entirely unlike all other Sauces, and, although in taste it resembles a Worcestershire, yet the ingredients used are quite different. Half a teaspoonful in a little water before your meals cleans the palate and is a wonderful appetizer. People from all parts of the world have testified to its great merits. It is supplied to the House of Lords and Commons, England, and to the principal hotels throughout the world. A 25-cent bottle from your local grocer will convince you how much more you will enjoy your food and at the same time see how very easily you can digest anything and everything.

A WHOLESOME RELIEF.

(Saginaw News.)

Those who saw "Peg o' My Heart" at the Academy Monday and Tuesday evenings were given pleasing relief from the murk, in the form of problem plays with questionable situations, which lately has shrouded the visions of theater-goers. This delightful story, imbued with the sweetness of youth, with its wholesome love and innocent frankness, came as a refreshing breeze in the heat of a boiling midsummer day.

The stage, which is unquestionably one of the world's greatest influences, has become a refuse heap for the dramatization of every idea which has a sensual appeal. There are morality plays of worth and when placed in the hands of artists they are a power for good.

But one does not wish to be everlastingly confronted with these problems, some of which go beyond reasonable limits both in theme and treatment. Nor does one wish to witness a treatise upon a delicate subject by alleged performers who handle it with much the same art that a calciminer would produce a Mona Lisa. It is then that such productions are worse than useless, for those endeavoring to present them fail utterly to interpret the purpose of the playwright, assuming they were written with the proper motive.

The charm "Peg o' My Heart" held over its audiences was very evident. It is such wholesome stories of human nature which appeal to all and leave no bad taste that make for most good on the stage and best fulfill its mission. There is more cleanliness in life than dirt, and the theater is a place where life is portrayed. Latterly it has been overbalanced with dirt, whereas the emphasis should always be kept on that which is sweet and normal and pure. Let us have more drama like "Peg o' My Heart" and less "leprosy" and "traffic."

RUSSIA HITS LIQUOR SALES.

Drastic Rules Made to Stop Drunk Consumption in Czar's Domain.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—The council of the empire has adopted drastic clauses to the bill for the regulation of the sale of alcohol. The new clauses prohibit the sale of spirits in towns between 11 o'clock at night and 9 o'clock in the morning and after 6 o'clock in the evening in country districts.

They prohibit entirely the sale of liquors in several public establishments, including government offices, refreshment rooms in theaters, concert halls and moving picture shows and in public gardens.

Count Serge Witte, former premier, recently made a dramatic appeal in the Council of the Empire to stop the consumption of spirits, which he declared was leading Russia to ruin.

In Bohemia last year 353,543 acres of sugar beets were grown.

ELBERFELD GAVE PITCHER A PUSH

Was Hit by Ball and Forced Over Him That Won a Game.

HAD A ROUGH GAME

New York, Feb. 17.—The fans in most of the big league cities have seen Norman (Kid) Elberfeld play ball under restrictions, have seen the fiery "kid" perform when fettered by the iron clad rules which govern the national game enforced to the letter by the dictator, the arbitrator. However, but very few have had the pleasure or otherwise of seeing the "tobasco kid" perform entirely unfettered and all restrictions removed. In a town and on a field where baseball rules, and laws of the land were cast to the four winds.

In 1900 when the batting kid was star shortstop of the American league, and working like a beaver, to win games for the Detroit management, he and Eddie Sievers drew a suspension—perhaps it was for thirty days, anyway it should have been for thirty years—this pair amused themselves by hooking up with different teams out in the state.

The management of the Tecumseh club hired this pair of villains to come out and help to clear up on Adrian, said Adrian team was made up of a crew which had seen service in about every bush league in the United States and Canada, and they were just as tough as they were ancient. In this contest "Kid" Elberfeld was in his glory, here he was with a team on its own grounds, its own umpire, and a crowd of raving fans ready to fight for the 'kid and back him up in every move he made.

In this case, as it is in about all country towns, the spectators stand where they please, and in this game they hugged the base lines and flocked about the plate so Elberfeld had his supporters right with him, and all willing to follow his commands. Up to the third inning there was no call for any extra effort, as the Tecumseh team assumed a commanding lead, the score being 6 to 0. Ed Sievers walked up to the scorer and offering him the ball with the remark that the game was so easy, in fact too easy for him to pitch, and requested the official to go out and finish the game.

In the fourth something hapened which was the direct cause of turning rather a slow contest into a howling battle. The first six batters of the Adrian wrecking crew smashed the ball, and to add lustre to the work "Big Mike" Jacobs sent the ball over the center field fence for a homer which tied the score. Sievers didn't come near the grand stand after that round.

But Elbefeld did. Every ounce of fighting blood in the "Kid" was aroused. He began a series of rough house tactics that only an Elberfeld could conceive. With a couple of hundred "rough necks" at his back the "kid" cut loose. Tying the score gave the Adrian bunch considerable courage, and they fought hard, but of course they could play straight baseball only, and to deviate a hair's breadth from that mean trouble.

When the Adrian hurler was about ready to wind up he lost sight of the plate, for there stood Elberfeld throwing dust by the handful and as fast as he could pick it up, in fact he got so bold he would run over to the pitcher's box and toss a handful right in the big hurler's face. The more dust the "kid" threw the better the pitcher worked, and the wider his curve grew, and he didn't even murmur, in fact he didn't dare. The big youth was the famous "Rube" Vickers, right out from the meadows and haymow. "Rube" has seen many games since, and played in many, but he will never forget his first trial.

The game was a fierce struggle the remaining innings. In the eight, with the score 8 and 9, and Tecumseh at the bat, by foul means instigated by the terrible "kid," the Chiefs managed to get three men on bases with two men down. Elberfeld failed in his turn to drive in the runners, and this peeved him, but he was determined to win that game. With a weak and timid batter up for Tecumseh and two strikes on him it looked bad for a score. But here Mr. Elberfeld came to the fore with a stunt the like of which was never pulled off in baseball before or since. The awful "kid" got right up to the plate, or as near to it without stepping on the batsman's toes, and when Vickers let go a fast curve Elberfeld gave the timid batter a vicious gash that sent him into the pitched ball.

Of course with the bases full this forced in a run, and the home umpire allowed it. The Adrian players quit and began packing their goods and fairly had to battle their way out of the grounds.

MURPHY'S CUBS NOT ON MARKET.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—In a letter to the committee representing the syndicate which is anxious to purchase the Chicago National league club, President Charles W. Murphy, of the Cubs, yesterday declined to fix a price, and stated emphatically that the club is not for sale. James A. Pugh, Charles A. McCulloch and William H. Thomas, who form the committee, expressed regret but said they had not abandoned hope of acquiring the Cubs.

Their first effort to purchase the club was made in a telegram to Murphy immediately after announcement of Johnny Ever's dismissal as manager. Later the offer was made in a formal letter. Murphy's communication yesterday was in reply.

BOOE WILL PLAY AT INDIANAPOLIS

Bill Phillips Lands Old Wheeling Player for His Outfield.

SEEKING ONE MORE

Indianapolis, Feb. 17.—With two new outfielders already landed and another on the line ready to be pulled ashore, Manager Bill Phillips, playing the role of silent fisherman, has decamped from Indianapolis on a little scouting trip, feeling that he had at least caused a ripple in the organized baseball stream. Outfielder Everett Booe, former Wheeling and Pirate, and one time an Indian for a few weeks, but late of St. Paul, is one of the players already landed, while John Potts, lone star of the outer works of the Cleveland Federal league club last year, is the other. Vincent Campbell, former leading hitter of Pittsburg, now with Boston, is the third outfielder that Phillips expects to land.

Booe and Potts have sent in their signed contracts, while Phillips has an engagement to meet Campbell. Campbell has a grievance against organized baseball, and has about decided to quit the game in order to accept a proposition that will set him up in business. He is particularly sore at Barney Dreyfuss, who he claims shipped him to Boston under unfair circumstances.

Campbell was in a fair way to lead the National league in batting in 1911, and was second only to Sherwood Magee, who nosed him out only a few points. He was laid off toward the close of that season, according to a story he related in Indianapolis at a time when he was going at his best, simply because he said that Dreyfuss was afraid that he would be compelled to pay him more money in case he topped the league in hitting. Dreyfuss then traded him to Boston.

Campbell is not only a hard hitter but he is also one of the fastest base runners in the National league. He would be a valuable addition to any team. He practically agreed to terms with the Indianapolis officials during his visit here, news of which has just leaked out, and has given Phillips his word that he will play ball with the Hoosier Feds this year or not at all.

Phillips is also after one of the best known infielders in the American league. He expected to talk terms with this player before proceeding to Pittsburg. Two pitchers and an extra first baseman also may be gathered in by him before he returns to Indianapolis. A shortstop will be sent to the Indianapolis club from the player roll of the league, and then Phillips says he will stand pat for the season.

After his conference with Campbell at Pittsburg, Phillips will spend a day or two at his home in Charleroi before taking a jaunt through the south in search of a spring training camp. There has been some talk of the Hoosier Feds pitching their camp in Virginia, but Phillips, who has trained in that vicinity on several occasions, does not like the climate, which he says is too uncertain. The dampness from the coast causes fog during the spring that would preclude the possibility of morning workouts, according to Phillips.

Phillips will travel further south and may even take his team way down in Georgia. He has several sites in view in the southern states and during the present trip will make a thorough investigation of the advantages offered.

When the lineups of all the Federal league teams are announced shortly they are expected to furnish some surprises. Among those that will concern Indianapolis fans in particular will be that of the Pittsburg club. Doc Gessler's lineup is said to contain the names of Infielder Jim Galloway and First Baseman Frank Metz, who played last year with the Indians. Although Phillips denied any knowledge of these players going over to the new league, the report that they had jumped today was generally given credence.

Galloway was counted upon as a regular by the Indian management this year, but Metz, it was announced some time ago, was to be sold or traded.

NOTES OF BASKET BALL.

Manager Charles Pask, of the Friar basket ball team, has again been made the victim of ill luck in the cancellation of the game booked for Thursday night with the Dayton Cadets. This club has engaged to play a series with one of the Toledo clubs and could not switch so as to be here on Thursday.

He has a number of teams asking for the game and it is likely that he will book one during the day and one will be obtained that can put on as nifty a battle as the Cadets which will come later in the season.

CHARLES WEBB MURPHY HAS MADE HIS BASE BALL QUARRELS PAY HIM IN HANDSOME DIVIDENDS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

Charles W. Murphy, the most talked of and most hated man in the sporting world today, likewise is one of the most interesting. Whatever Murphy does it is interesting, and he has created more trouble, put over more deals, caused more upheavals in the baseball world than all the other club owners combined.

He is a small, plump man, quick of wit, brilliant in repartee, quick of temper, quick to forgive, even quicker than he is to seek forgiveness. Murphy has been the monkey wrench in baseball machinery since 1906, and, now that the effort to drive him out of baseball is on in earnest, his history is interesting.

Murphy, in spite of the popular belief that he is of Jewish extraction, is of Irish parentage, his father being Patrick Murphy, of Wilmington, Ohio. He worked in a drug store at $2 a week and slept in the store, went to Cincinnati, where he later secured a job on a newspaper, and after a time wrote baseball.

He was considered the press box pest of Cincinnati because of his "rooting" for or against teams or players. His salary was small, but he was a money maker. He gained his first big "stake" by getting out a big program for a police benefit in Cincinnati.

While engaged in hustling for money in Cincinnati he became friendly with Taft, brother of the former president. When the Chicago club was placed on the market Murphy stepped in, made an offer and persuaded Taft to let him have the cash.

His extraordinary success during the first five years he owned the Cubs aroused much envy, and his actions aroused bitter enmity. He has quarreled with almost every man in baseball—and made a fortune doing it.

Just now he is out with almost everyone in baseball—and laughing at them, declaring they cannot drive him out of the game.

Hate him or like him, he is always interesting—and that is something.

Among other things, Murphy fired Manager John Evers for an alleged bonehead play to which Murphy charges the loss of the post-season series to the White Sox.

CHUBBY CHARLES MURPHY—THE TARGET FOR EVERYBODY'S BRICKBATS.

The score was 0 to 0 with the Cubs at bat in the last half of the ninth inning. Archer, a comparatively slow runner, opened with a base hit. Evers had two slower men. Bresnahan and Needham, as reserve catchers and three players faster than Archer on the bench. Murphy says Evers should have taken Archer out and sent a faster man to first. Cheney had pitched nine innings and held the Sox scoreless. Murphy says Evers should have sent a substitute to bat for Cheney. Cheney is a good bunter, a fair hitter and was pitching well.

SPEED IN SPORT IS BIG ELEMENT

Counts for More With Patrons Than Any Other Point.

CLUBS ARE VERY FAST

Of all the elements in sport none is so interesting and none supplies as much genuine amusement as speed.

Speed in a well regulated game of checkers or in an animated exhibition of chess playing might topple over some mighty calculations and might also make some history but these games can hardly be counted as sport although they find their way now and then into the pink, green or sheets of other colors by which the metropolitan dailies designate their sporting sections on Sunday.

These do not belong in society, finance, vital statistics, classified ads politics, editorial, beauty hints, Paris fashions or any other department of the papers so they have been wished on the sporting section.

But this is a radical departure from the intent of this little essay. At the outset it was intended to deal solely with the speed that is expected to be demonstrated in the basket ball game carded for St. Paul's auditorium, Barr and Madison streets, this evening in which St. Mary's Athletics and the Walther league St. Paul club are scheduled to meet in conflict.

These two organizations have demonstrated to the basket ball public that they can start under a full head of steam and keep going until the last whistle and they also show that they can play better basket ball when they are unhampered by a net enclosure.

The floor at the auditorium is built for speed. It is roomy, there is no net and open style basket ball is easily put on there and both clubs play that brand.

A week ago these two crews met on St. Mary's floor and St. Paul led the milling into the second period when St. Mary's lads showed such dazzling basket ball that it ran ahead and captured victory ina contest that looked like a cinch for the opposition.

Pete Dietrich thinks he knows how his men lost that battle and he has been drilling them ever since in a style of play to meet the kind that beat them in the first battle. Then he has this to consider. If he can win the game he can put his club on even terms with St Mary's band in the city series. If he loses he drops back to a position that will render it extremely difficult for St. Paul to make a showing in the race.

There is certain to be a basket ball game worth while no matter which way it goes. Both clubs have plenty of friends and the advance ticket sale shows they will be on hand to root and root hard. There will be no cow bells, college yells or any other of the distracting noises that annoy people who really go to see the contest instead of being on hand to hear a lot of irresponsibles engaged in working out of their systems a lot of din and confusion that might as well stay in there.

Another point that will be made is that of starting on time. Basket ball is lax in this particular. Too much time for practice and too much time for wrangling before the game has induced Manager Scherer to make every effort to start the preliminary promptly so that persons who want to go for the last game will know about what time to be on hand.

PEACE OFFERING COLDLY REFUSED

This Made Weeghman Sore and Federals Entered Brooklyn.

STORY IS GIVEN OUT

New York, Feb. 17.—The decision of the Federal league to invade Brooklyn, according to a story current today, was made last week, after the national commission refused to allow the American association to present to Charles Weeghman, of Chicago, a franchise of that league as a peace feagtie. A story has it that President Thomas Chivington came here with full authority of the American association to give Weeghman a club to be located in Chicago. Chivington is reported to have said that his organization was so anxious to locate in the Windy city that the Chicago Federal league man could have it free of charge just to coax him away from the opposition.

If this plan had gone through it is stated the Federal league would have gone out of business. Ban Johnson, however, blocked the deal. When the matter was first brought up in the American league last Tuesday it was killed at Johnson's suggestion. Later in the national commission Johnson also ruled against it on the grounds that it would be an admission of weakness on the part of the organized baseball. The St. Paul and Toledo clubs, it is said, were willing to be transferred.

THE SHRINER'S PARADE.

Real Elephants Will Be Used in Street Demonstration.

One hundred members of Mizpah temple, Ancient Arabic order of the Mystic Shrine, including the Arab patrol and Nomad band will leave Thursday night for Grand Rapids to attend the ceremonial session there and participate in the ceremonies attending the pilgrimage of 600 candidates. The local shrine delegation will leave the temple on West Main street following the herd of Robinson elephants in a monster street parade to the depot. The elephants will head the parade and on top the big animals will be Illustrious Potentate W. E. Cook and others of the official divan.

Mr. Robinson is himself a Shriner and as a special testimonial to him, Wednesday night has been set aside at the Empress theater as "Shriners' night" and will be attended by members of the patrol and band.

CHANGES HIS LIQUOR VIEWS.

Year in Governor's Office Makes Ralston's Secretary "Dry."

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 17.—B. R. Johnston, private secretary to Governor Ralston, has written a letter to S. E. Nicholson, chairman of a citizen's committee at Richmond, asserting that he will vote "dry" at a local option election to be held in his home city soon. He declares that a year's experience in the governor's office has practically changed him from a "liberal" in many questions pertaining to the liquor business.

"Having just passed through an experience of a year in the office of the governor of the state, I am frank to admit a radical change in my viewpoint and my conclusions as to the existence of the saloon in any truly enlightened community," wrote Mr. Johnson. "As a citizen of Richmond, having at heart the welfare of the whole community, I shall vote dry at the coming election," and Mr. Johnson then goes on to cite numerous reasons for the views he now holds.

MYERS TO START HIS EIGHTEENTH

Has Seventeen Years of Service on the Diamond Behind Him.

HAS NOT SIGNED UP

Canton, O., Feb. 17.—Bade Myers, manager of the Canton team in the Interstate league last season until the ill-fated circuit hit the rocks in July, will not leave the diamond this year. Tardiness in signing a contract for the season and the fact that he recently accepted a traveling position with a Canton sporting goods house made it appear that there was such a possibility.

Myers will continue to manage ball clubs and play first base as long as he can get suitable contracts, he declared Monday. He has been doing this for about seventeen seasons and is now a stronger batter than when he first became known to Canton fans as manager of the Central league team here in 1906.

Bade will not be in the Federal league this season, either. He was offered the first base job with the St. Louis club, with which he finished the 1913 season, but decided not to accept because of the heat in the Mound city.

The former Canton manager has several offers to manage in minor league circles the coming season but is holding off until later in the winter in the hope of bettering himself. It is likely that he will sign a contract within a few weeks or a month.

Peoria, in the Three-I circuit, wants Bade to manage this year and stands a good chance of getting him. Myers established an enviable reputation in the Three-I while managing various clubs before coming to Canton last season, finishing well up in the race each year, and developing much material for sale to big leagues.

Appleton, in the Wisconsin-Illinois circuit, also wants the Canton man. He could have gone there last season after the Interstate demised but only by signing a reserve contract for this season. He would not do this, preferring to remain a free agent. He signed up with the St. Louis Federals instead and played a good game at first base.

Bade is a believer in the Federal league's lasting powers and asserts that there is plenty of coin back of the organization that is fighting organized ball, the "baseball trust." He thinks the Federals will eventually become recognized as a third big league.

Myers was an advocate of a club in the Ohio State league for Canton this year, instead of going without baseball. He believed that the State circuit could have drawn well enough to avoid a financial deficiency at the close of the season.

CENTRAL LEAGUE SEEKING TOLEDO

President Louis Heilbroner Today Made Application for Territory.

MAY EXPAND CIRCUIT

President Louis Heilbroner, on behalf of the Central league, today made application for territorial rights in Toledo following the announcement that the American association club that had been playing there several years would be moved to Cleveland to play there during the absence of the Naps.

Mr. Heilbroner also sent a message to President C. W. Somers, of the Cleveland club, asking an option on the Toledo park in event he secures the territory, and on the answers to these messages will depend the shaping of his course.

In event the rights are secured it can be occupied either by expanding the circuit to eight clubs or moving one of the half dozen now composing it to the new town. If a city is to be added Youngstown may be considered for a berth as Toledo would break a jaunt from Evansville and Terre Haute and would fit in nicely.

But these things are not being considered as Mr. Heilbroner is a firm believer in the rudimentary rule for cooking a hare—first get the hare. He thinks the territory too valuable to lie idle and he wants to get it while the getting is good.

It is admirably located for the Central league and most probably Springfield will be transferred there if the negotiations go through and the league is not expanded. Toledo is unfortunately situated so that it cannot be taken into the International or any other double A circuit. There are none of the class A's that can reach it and if it is really abandoned by the American association the Central looks like the best bet.

While doping is good, however, the ideal circuit would be to move Evansville to Toledo and then take in Youngstown and switch Terre Haute there.

TO SELECT DATES FOR MEETING.

Horsemen Also Expect to Make Important Change in Ruling Records.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Horsemen representing four middle western racing associations arrived here today for their annual meetings. A new rule which would limit a new record only to the winner of a race and not to heat winners will be offered at the biennial congress of the American Trotting association. A similar rule recently was adopted by the National Trotting association. Other business to be considered will be the selection of this year's racing dates and routine matters. Representatives of the Great Western circuit, Eastern Illinois circuit and the Northern Indiana-Michigan also will arrange dates.

WADDELL IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 17—Rube Waddell, the famous baseball pitcher, formerly in the major leagues, who is in a hospital here suffering from a bronchial affection, was reported today to be in a serious condition. Waddell was brought here recently from Boerne, Tex.

Easy to Darken Your Gray Hair

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready to use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

TRAFFIC MEN ADVANCED

Pennsylvania Executive Board Makes Interesting Announcements.

FRED E. SAWYER AMONG PROMOTED

Wabash Freight Wreck on Bridge Near Montpelier —Road Blocked.

The executive board of the Pennsylvania company met in Pittsburg today and made a number of changes in the traffic department. J. P. Orr, assistant general freight traffic manager, has been retired to the pension list and his retirement is responsible for the following changes:

J. J. Koch, assistant general freight traffic manager, to succeed Mr. Orr.

G. S. McCabe, general freight agent, succeeding Mr. Koch.

J. E. Weller, assistant general freight agent, succeeding Mr. McCabe, with headquarters in Chicago.

U. G. Couffer, general western freight agent, to succeed Mr. Weller.

F. E. Sawyer, special agent.

S. C. Matthewson, assistant general freight agent at Pittsburg.

E. R. Coleman, division freight agent at Cincinnati.

P. C. Sprague, division freight agent at Richmond.

C. L. Ferrall, division freight agent at Cambridge.

All of the men named are known in Pennsylvania official circles in Fort Wayne and one of them, Fred E. Sawyer, is known by most of the business men and manufacturers in the city. He was the company's local freight agent for about a year, being succeeded by E. H. Kirkland. From this city Mr. Sawyer went to Indianapolis as division freight agent; then to Columbus in a similar capacity and soon afterwards was made assisting general freight agent of the C., A. & C. branch of the system. His duties are not fully given in the short mention of the changes, but as Mr. Sawyer is considered one of the best freight men in the country, it is quite likely that he received a nice promotion.

TOSSED BY THREE ENGINES.

Young Horse Strays on Tracks and Is Killed.

Section men at Montdale, Ind., on the Pennsylvania, report finding the severed parts of a young horse at the side of the tracks this morning. Marks on three engines and the ground at the scene of the accident indicate that the horse was struck three times. It is figured out that the animal was first struck by the engine pulling eastbound Pennsylvania train No. 2, the Pennsylvania limited, Engineer C. J. Pierson at the throttle, as this train was the first to pass that point and the tail of the horse was found between the slats of the pilot. It is presumed that this train threw the horse on the westbound track, where it was picked up by the engine pulling train No. 17, Engineer Wilder at the throttle. This train hurled the body back on the eastbound track, where the engine pulling No. 48, John L. Gebert at the throttle, picked it up and deposited it in the ditch, cut in two and the parts several feet from each other. The section men said the horse was dead when found.

TRAIN DERAILED ON BRIDGE.

Wabash Westbound Freight Gets Twelve Cars Off Track.

Westbound Wabash freight train No. 82 was wrecked on a three-span bridge at Arter, the first station west of Montpelier, at 3 o'clock this morning. Twelve cars left the rails, some going through the bridge, carrying with them to the stream below a portion of the structure. The tracks were blocked for several hours and some of the passenger trains, including Nos. 2 and 9, had to make a detour, via the Chicago line to Wolcottville and thence to this city over the Grand Rapids and Indiana. The wreck crews from Montpelier and Peru were hastened to the scene, the latter picking up section men at this station and elsewhere and taking them to Arter to help clear the tracks and repair the bridge. A special train bearing Supt. J. C. Sullivan, Division Engineer W. S. Danes, Trainmaster C. E. Wells and a lot of laborers passed through this city at 7 o'clock this morning en route to Arter. It is said that none of the crew was hurt.

NEW SLEEPING CAR SERVICE.

Pennsylvania Will Establish One Between This City and Chicago.

Within the next eight or ten days the Pennsylvania will establish a sleeping car service between this city and Chicago, a service that has been in contemplation for some time. A special car will be set aside for the purpose. It will be carried to Chicago by either train No. 15 or 25, leaving at 3:25 or 4:00 a. m., and be open to passengers early in the night so they can enter their berths as early as 10 o'clock, get a good night's rest and arrive in Chicago at 7:30. Eastbound the car will be opened to passengers in Chicago at 11 o'clock, be attached to train No. 18 at 2:55 and arrive in Fort Wayne at 6:55 o'clock in the morning.

NEW JOB FOR L. F. LOREE.

The Pittsburg Dispatch says it has reliable information that warrants the announcement that the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal and the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroads will be consolidated under one management, as formerly, and operated as one system. "At the head will be L. F. Loree as chairman of the board, if not as president, and it is not unlikely that B. A. Worthington will be found with the system again in the capacity of an executive officer," says the Dispatch.

USING NEW PASSENGER TRACK.

Passenger trains on the Pennsylvania are using the new tracks west of Calhoun street and yesterday began running between the train sheds as they will when the new passenger station is opened to business. Cross-over tracks just west of Calhoun street have been installed to serve until the new station is in service, the old one partly demolished and tracks placed upon the north end of the subway bridge over Calhoun street.

The Nickel Plate wreck crew and outfit was summoned to Continental yesterday afternoon to pick up a crippled engine. THIS FT. WAYNE SCHOOL BUILDING WILL BE REPLACED BY $50,000 STRUCTURE.

A school building in which many of Fort Wayne's most prominent citizens first learned the "three Rs" will give way to a modern structure when the plans formulated by the Cathedral parish members to put up a $50,000 schoolhouse have materialized.

The old building is located at the southwest corner of Clinton and Jefferson streets and is very old. Within a year the splendid site will boast of one of the most complete structures of its kind in the city. The determination to build has just been reached and came as a result of the fact that the parish within the last year was freed of debt.

Father John R. Quinlan will have charge of the plans and ample room will be provided for teaching all grades up to the eighth. The plans have not been made, but the matter will be placed at once in the hands of architects.

As a sample of the best type she has picked Florence Barth as the best example.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tea," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

QUALITY PIANOS

How Distinguished

You cannot tell by looking at a piano whether it is a good one—any skillful cabinet maker can make a case attractive. You cannot tell merely by trying it—tone and action may not be lasting. But you know that it is a good piano if it bears the name Packard—you know that it is something more than a fine case—that the qualities you like in the beginning will always be there. You know that if the Packard were not one of the best pianos made, it could not have held for so many years the pre-eminent position it does hold as a musical instrument.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Higher quotations at European centers favored an advancing market today for wheat. Selling on the bulge by professional speculators here caused only a temporary reaction. The market in Chicago opened ⅛@⅛c to ¼@⅜c up, and after a brief dip showed a rally all around.
The close was steady at a net advance of ⅝c to ¾@⅞c.
Corn rose, impelled chiefly by the firmness of wheat. Opening prices were unchanged to ⅛c higher and then a subsequent further gain.
The close was steady, ⅝c to ¾c above last night.
Not much of a demand developed for oats. The market, however, sympathized with the upturn in other cereals.
Provisions were governed by the court of prices for hogs, initial steadiness being succeeded by a moderate setback. First transactions varied from a shade off to an advance of 2½c, with a later fall of 10c from top.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Feb. 17.—The volume of business was light at the opening today and price changes were small. The Harriman stocks were slightly lower and Reading and Amalgamated made small gains. Some of the inactive shares moved more widely but fluctuations among the leaders were narrow, with no perceptible trend in either direction.
The market was relieved today from the pressure directed against it during the preceding session but made little progress toward recovering the losses then inflicted. The tone was steady throughout the forenoon. Some of the specialties made good gains, but the railroad stocks once more were inclined to lag behind, and the movement as a whole was insignificant. Bonds were steady.
The market closed heavy. Announcement of a $19,000,000 Great Northern stock increase caused a decline in the shares of over two points. The rest of the list also became slightly reactionary.

THE DAILY GRAIN LETTER.

(Furnished by J. S. Phillips, North American Building.)

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Wheat strong and at highest figures of several months on confirmation of reports that Argentine will only export 56,000,000 bushels, including Brazil exports. European markets led our strength with upturns of ½c to 1¼c; Antwerp up ⅝c; Liverpool up ½c. Primary wheat receipts again small. St. Louis reports of export business were circulated. Small pit offerings were a feature, Canadian wires claim Winnipeg has sold a lot of wheat abroad. Basis of the strength is the fact that big Russian shipments are apparently the only thing preventing a general world price upturn.
Corn pit had another glimpse of optimism. Turn in the trend caught local shorts. Argentine corn is offered 68c to 68½c at seaboard for February shipment, but is less of a factor daily. Eastern reports say Argentine corn good for poultry but cannot be digested by horses and cattle in a proper manner. Cash demand here a shade better but no features. General belief in future corn scarcity a leading factor.
Oats advanced with the general grain list and oats visible should again decrease healthily next week.
Securities are in the grip of easier money according to eastern authorities. The failure to obtain a rail rate advance was not a serious disappointment. General trade news is favorable and a trading situation is predicted. Some people think there is a fair chance of a rail rate advance in September. Meanwhile, the building wave over the United States is excellent for the season. The stock market closed dull and featureless, with very small price changes from yesterday, with exception of New Haven, which sold down to 69 again.

FAT MAN'S SIGH INJURES A GUEST

Deep Breathing Following Dinner Bursts Off Button.

HITS DINER IN FACE

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—Sighing with contentment after he had finished an excellent dinner, J. E. Jones, a wealthy real estate man, weighing 250 pounds, forced a button from his waistcoat with such force that it split in two. One of the pieces struck in the eye of his friend, Christopher Smith, with whom he was dining, probably destroying the sight. The other piece caught Mr. Smith on the cheek and opened up a deep wound, which required three stitches to close.

Mr. Jones now admits that it is not always wise to express with a sigh one's satisfaction over a fine meal, especially if one be of wide girth.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith had just finished dining in a Diamond street restaurant when the accident happened. After the repast was finished they had settled themselves back for a smoke, when Mr. Jones heaved the momentous sigh. There was a snap and before Mr. Jones realized what had happened there was a wound under his companion's left eye, while the eye itself was tightly closed in pain.

Medical attention disclosed the fact that Mr. Smith will probably lose the sight of his left eye.

Mr. Jones is a member of the Academy of Science and Art. He is prominent in business circles.

RAPID CAMPAIGN BY FORGERS HERE

Several Tricks Turned Late Saturday After Banks Had Closed.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

In a rapid campaign in this city Saturday afternoon after banks had closed two forgers made a clean-up and left town. Their trail is plain, but there is nothing to indicate the fellows are still in the city. Two men went into the Thieme Tailoring company's store, 118 West Berry street, and one of them selected material for a suit, had his measure taken and in payment of a $10 deposit required tendered a check for $25 drawn on the First National bank, receiving $15 cash in change. Later two men, answering the description of the men at the Thieme store, made a $16 purchase at the T. J. Israel clothing store, 1011 Calhoun street, gave a check for $30 on the First National bank and got back $15 cash. At the Randall hotel they offered a check for $25, but the clerk would risk but $5 on the paper until he could make inquiry. The same men tried to cash a check at the Wayne hotel, but Clerk Louis H. Limecooley turned them down. The police have been able to find no trace of the men, and it is believed they left as soon as they had made their clean-up.

IN THE CITY COURT.

Turk Is Held Under Belief That He Is a Swindler.

John Doe is the name under which a Turk who can speak and understand no English is held in jail in default of $200 bond on a charge of vagrancy. The case was continued until tomorrow that an interpreter may be procured. Mr. Doe was arrested while collecting small subscriptions for the relief of nine little folks across the water who were orphaned by the late war in the Balkans. He carries a book containing his appeal written in Turkish, English and German and it is signed and endorsed by high ecclesiastical authority of the Christian church in the Southeastern Europe. The man's book shows that he has collected a considerable amount in small sums from many Fort Wayne people. Recent dispatches from New York have detailed the arrival in this country of a band of Turks whose purpose is to carry on a wholesale swindling campaign by appealing to the sympathy and charitable impulses of Americans and the man under arrest here is suspected to be working that game.

John Konazelki is the name of a Polish man held under $200 bond on a charge of petit larceny. He is charged with having stolen eighteen sacks of flour, aggregating nine hundredweight, from a freight car in the east yards of the Wabash railroad here on February 5. The flour was consigned by a milling company in Grabill, this county, to Tillmans, O. After working on the case several days Detective Sergeants Mart Rundell and Joe Brennan, aided by Special Officer William Mulvihill, of the Wabash railroad, traced the theft to Konazelki, who resides at 1109 Eliza street. Three sacks of the flour were found there and four sacks were found at the home of Jake Levin, 619 Holman street. Levin bought six sacks from Konazelki and gave for it a receipt which laconically says, "I received the flour." Konazelki is said to have broken into the car and have carted the flour away in a hand wagon. He denies the theft, saying the flour was given to him by a man whose name he does not know. The case was continued until tomorrow because there was no interpreter in court this morning.

Thomas Martin and Thomas Ryan, two vagabond fellows who were drunk and begging on Calhoun street, were given eleven days each. They were arrested by Officer Young and said they came here from Plymouth.

William Holzmeyer, a 14-year-old youngster, charged with stealing $20 from Dick Weller, who runs a meat market on Spy Run avenue, was certified to the juvenile court.

FROM SOCIETY TO AN APPLE GROWER

How a City Bred Woman Became Successful Orchardist.

SHE IS NOW WEALTHY

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—Five years ago last summer Mrs. Eleanore Risley was a society woman who had never lived anywhere except in a city and knew nothing of the practical side of life except what she had learned in a course of economics at college. Her home was in Southern California.

Then her husband was drowned. It had taken money to live well. So when Mrs. Risley checked up she found her only worldly possession was a farm of 260 acres near Nevada, Mo. One hundred acres of the farm was covered by an apple orchard.

Mrs. Risley determined to go into the apple business. Her friends felt sorry for her; tried to dissuade her. Every one else who knew the circumstances laughed. The trouble was that horticulture is admitted to be a science and Mrs. Risley did not know a Grimes Golden from a Winesap nor a pruning hook from a spraying pump.

A Gloomy Outlook.

She reached the farm in late summer and she received her first blow immediately. Where she had expected an inviting country home and an orchard all ready to drop its fruit into her outstretched apron, she found no house and a tangled wilderness of weeds and brush for an orchard.

But she clamored through the forest of weeds, at the expense of her day dreams and part of her dress, and found that the apple trees were really there. Also they had apples on them. With her last $12 Mrs. Risley bought a pony and a small buggy. She sold them in Nevada for eighty cents—and bought her dinner.

That was the start.

The next five years, which made of the society woman one of the foremost woman orchardists in Missouri, and brought her to Kansas City to sell two carloads of a $6,000 1913 apple crop, Mrs. Risley says were the happiest and at the same time the most trying of her life.

Meant Hard Work.

"It was hard work, but I like it," she said at the Tanner hotel, where she is visiting friends. Wouldn't you be pleased with doing work that made good food which had gone to waste or sold for three cents a bushel bring from $1.00 to $1.50 a bushel and be worth the money to the consumer?"

"No one thought I could do it, though. When I first went to the farm no one would trust me—called me the society woman and said I would soon be gone. They are naming their children after me now.

"What was the most trying? I hardly know. The first year, I believe. I lived in a deserted house near the farm. It had not been occupied for fifteen years. There was no barn for the pony, so I turned the dining room over to him and taught him to eat off the mantel. He lived from the apples he ate off the mantel most of the first autumn.

Lived on Her Nerve.

"I had to hire the first pickers on my nerve. Of course, they struck the first Saturday night. I sent the apples to Fort Scott, but with money I did not pay all I owed to the pickers. I bought barrels and was then soon able to buy what I wanted and hire as many men as I needed.

"The next summer I built a little house on the farm and began doing things to that orchard. I had studied all winter. Now the one hundred acres are cultivated like a garden and not one apple—and every tree bears every year—goes to waste."

Mrs. Risley personally superintends all of the work and does a great part of the marketing. She is planning next year to ship a great part of her crop direct to the consumer by parcel post in one peck and half bushel boxes.

Last year only twenty-three murders were committed in the city of London.

weigher. They charged the defendants entered into an unlawful agreement to defraud the federal government in three ways: First, by causing false weights and measures and fraudulent returns of weights on the incoming cargoes of their coal for the purpose of lessening the amount of duty collected.

Second, by causing the returns of weight on all out-going cargoes delivered into American bottoms to be grossly excessive in weight, making the customs drawback much greater than the duties that had been collected on the same coal.

Third, by grossly overweighing the coal delivered to the United States army transports.

The McNab Charges.

A second set of indictments repeating the charges contained in the first, was returned by the grand jury, June 28, two days after John L. McNab, United States district attorney for the northern district of California had wired his resignation to President Wilson, with a recital of circumstances, which he claimed showed that outside influences had been at work through the office of the attorney general to embarrass him and defeat the ends of justice. The McNab charges became a matter of national discussion and led to a heated debate in congress.

ANNOTHER IN FATAL FALL

sick and I believe that she fainted," said Kimmell. "I don't see how she could have been caught on the doorway because she was standing well in on the platform and when she fell she did not cry out or make a sound."

Thought Her Alive.

When Mr. Kimmell and other employes of the hotel had rushed to the basement they found the woman's body lying in the elevator pit and at first believed that she still lived. Policeman Paul was called in and a call was also sent out for a physician, but an examination failed to detect signs of life and it is believed by the coroner that the woman was dead before her body hit the bottom of the shaft.

But little is known of Mrs. Wilson's life. She had been employed by the hotel company since last October as a dishwasher, but where she lived before coming to the hotel is unknown. It is said that she had one son, Chester Isabell, residing in Peoria, Ill., and one daughter is an inmate at the Indiana school for feeble minded youth. The remains have been removed to the Schoag & Ankenbruck morgue to await word from relatives.

Had Been Inspected.

Manager H. J. Keenan, of the hotel, declared that both the state and local building inspectors examined the elevator frequently and passed upon it favorably. Mr. Keenan deeply deplores the tragedy and is assisting the authorities in attempting to get to the truth concerning the actual cause of the two accidents.

Among the effects of Mrs. Wilson were found two letters, one from her son and another from a daughter, and a paid up insurance policy for $200 with the Prudential company.

cause it does not represent the sober judgment of the party, but merely represents what some persons, who found themselves in a position to voice the opinions of the party believed, determined upon.

"I am opposed to no tolls. They would be unjust to the taxpayers of the United States. I do not believe one dollar of the exemption to coastwise vessels would ever find its way to the ultimate consumer."

Declaring that President Wilson did not like to see "the United States in the attitude of an outlaw among the nations," Senator Lodge, republican, vigorously defended the president.

Senator Bristow declared Mr. Wilson's attitude on the Panama canal plank of the Baltimore convention and on the suffrage question had "given us a line on some of the peculiar and interesting characteristics of our chief executive, which may be exceedingly useful to the country in the future." He quoted the single presidential term plank and asked: "At the proper time will the president interpret this plank in harmony with his position as to suffrage or as to canal tolls?"

Favors Alaska Bill.

President Wilson told Representative Underwood, the democratic house leader, today that members could be assured of his own support for the Alaska bill. Reports have recently been circulated that the president was opposed to it. The Panama canal tolls repeal was also discussed at length by the president with Mr. Underwood, but the majority leader declined to say anything about his conference. He is unwilling to say whether he would vote for or against a repeal of the exemption clause.

BEGGED CASH AND KEPT IT HIMSELF

Turk Who Made Fraudulent Appeal to Charity is Sent to Jail.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

A Turk booked as John Doe because his name could not be learned, was found guilty of vagrancy this morning in the city court and given a fine of $20 and costs and will spend thirty days in jail unless friends pay him out. The Turk is the one who was going about the city with an appeal to charity in behalf of nine children orphaned by the Balkan war. He carried a book in which the appeal, purporting to be signed and authorized by high ecclesiastical authorities of the Christian faith [illegible] printed in English, German and modern Syriac. The subscription is signed by sixty-one Fort Wayne persons, mostly women, who contributed sums ranging from a dime to half a dollar. The Turk had collected between $12 and $15 when arrest stopped his swindling career. Through an interpreter he admitted that he had used the appeal to obtain money and that he had spent the cash on himself. The man came here several days ago from Chicago with two other Turks. His companions obtained work, but the swindler worked his charity graft. The police have been on the lookout for the game since it was reported from the east that a big gang of swindlers had just arrived from the Near East to prey on the charity of Americans.

Wife in Hospital; Hub in Jail.

Homer Bolenbaucher, of Bluffton, pleaded guilty to petit larceny in the city court this morning and was fined $20 and costs and given fifteen days in jail, the whole of which will keep him sheltered for the balance of the cold spell. Monday night Bolenbaucher fell in with James B. Stroube, of Montpelier, Ind., an aged veteran of the civil war, who was on his way to Grabill, this county, to visit friends. The two had some drinks together in saloons near the Pennsylvania railroad and then went to a lodging house in that region. Stroube paid for a room and the pair retired. Later Bolenbaucher left, but returned after a while and stole $30 from the old man's clothes and disappeared. Stroube reported to the police yesterday and said that his bills were all marked with a "P" on one corner. Last night Detective Sergeants W. F. Pappert and Charles Spillner and Plain Clothesman Peter Junk picked up Bolanbaucher. One of the marked bills was found on him. Bolanbaucher's wife is in the Lutheran hospital here. The young man stated in police court this morning that he took up enough money by subscription in Bluffton to send his wife to the hospital. He was generous enough to leave $15 with his victim when he robbed him.

Forger is Landed.

John A. Hughes, a dope fiend who has been in the hands of the local police heretofore, took a continuance of his hearings on a charge of forgery this morning and his case will be tried in the city court Saturday. He is in jail in default of bond. Hughes was arrested last night by Detective Sergeants Mart Rundell and Joe Brennan and the pinch cleared up the mystery of the forgeries by which the Thieme Tailoring company, Theodore A. Israel, a Calhoun street clothing merchant, the Randall hotel and the Wartell jewelry store on Calhoun street were victimized last Saturday for various sums. The downfall of Hughes here was brought about by his having cashed a worthless check at the saloon of William N. Hall, corner Fairfield avenue and Hendricks street, who notified the police. Night patrolmen Ward Hall and John Godfrey were ready to arrest Hughes when the detectives got him. Hughes says he is from Florida and says he intended to leave Fort Wayne for Lafayette last night.

Other City Court Cases.

Charles Heine, an aged man, was sent over for eleven days for drunkenness. He was arrested by Plain Clothesman Junk last night at the corner of Calhoun and Superior streets and was shockingly foul with his tongue.

George Bill, a 15-year-old lad who ran away from his home in Chicago, was arrested last evening and booked for vagrancy in court this morning, in order to hold him until the arrival of his father today.

FATHER DELANEY SUES REV. EVANS

Pastor of St. Patrick's Says Westminster Pastor Has Libeled Him.

HE DEMANDS $10,000

Rev. Joseph F. Delaney, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church in this city, instituted a libel suit against Rev. Alexander R. Evans, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church on West Berry street. Father Delaney demands $10,000. The suit was filed in the circuit court by Breen & Morris, counsel for the plaintiff. The suit rests upon the repetition in a letter alleged to have been written by Rev. Evans in which he repeated and asserted slanderous stories that have been in circulation in Fort Wayne for several months.

Attorneys for Father Delaney stated today after the filing of the complaint that the suit would be pushed to an early determination. Father Delaney has lived in Fort Wayne for twenty-six years, has been pastor of St. Patrick's twenty-four years, is much loved in his parish and out of it and has a host of friends, Catholic and non-Catholic, who have been made not only indignant at the covert circulation of stories concerning his conduct and character, but have repeatedly urged him to seek redress in the courts.

The letter written by Rev. Evans states that he knew the husband of the woman involved and that the husband had resented the improper conduct of Father Delaney by laying violent hands upon him. Upon receipt of this letter Father Delaney hesitated no longer and insisted that vindication be demanded from Rev. Evans, that the further dissemination of the slanders might be stopped. Today's suit is the outcome of that determination.

Father Delaney today made this statement:

"In the suit filed against Rev. A. R. Evans it may appear to those who do not know me and to those who do not know the nature of the malicious and untruthful charges made by him, that I have been prompted by religious animosity rather than from a feeling that he has done me an injury.

"To all such I wish to say that no one regrets more than I do the necessity under which I feel of bringing this suit against one who is a minister of the gospel and of a church in which I have many warm personal friends. But I feel it is my duty to make this gentleman understand that when in personal letters he assails my priestly character he thereby endeavors to take away from me the only appreciable asset I have in this life and the only honor I care for, and I cannot believe for a moment that his feelings are shared by the members of any of the Protestant churches of this city."

Judge Eggeman, of the circuit court, stated today that, owing to his close relations with Father Delaney, he would not try the case, if Mr. Evans, the defendant, made any objection, and in that event he would call another judge to hear the case.

KANSAS WOMEN ORGANIZE.

Feminine Democrats Propose to Improve Laws of State.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 18.—A movement toward a state-wide organization of the democratic women of Kansas was started in Kansas City last Monday at a meeting of the Wyandotte county democratic club. Half of those present were women. Mrs. Grace Wallace, of Rosedale, Kas., in an address urged that the newly enfranchised women of Kansas not only attend political meetings but organize political clubs and hand themselves in a state-wide organization. By this sort of co-operation, she said, the women could exercise an irresistible influence toward improving the laws of the state.

Unemployed Do Not Flock to Chicago Municipal Market.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Chicago's unemployed did not flock today to take advantage of the opening of the municipal market which will sell them groceries at cost. Up to 9 o'clock there had not been a single customer and all the municipal clerks had to do was to dust off the shelves where beans were priced at 3½ cents a pound instead of 7; soap at 3½ cents a bar; rice at 2½ cents a pound instead of 6, and bacon at 17 cents a pound. First customers will not be questioned as to whether they have employment, according to County Agent Meyer. Later, he said, purchasers will be investigated.
